Poor, Old Chinese Horse
Cato, Then Kato
Uncle Sam Breaks Toys
Plays Samson and Delilah

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1921, Star Company

You read big headings in all the papers:

"Nations will aid China."

"Nations will open the Chinese door."

"Nations will develop China."

All what nations will do, not what CHINA will do. In population she is four times as big as this country. But she is not able TO MANAGE HER AFFAIRS. She must take advice of other nations, swallow medicine they prescribe.

England may have a protectorate over Tibet, ruled more or less by China hitherto.

Japan may get something in Manchuria in exchange for something else Chinese. It makes you feel sorry for China.

All the more reason for NOT making another China of this country by allowing other nations to share control of our affairs.

Interesting coincidents crop up in history. A few years ahead this may be quoted:

"It was a Senator named Cato that always told the Romans that they ought to destroy Carthage. Nineteen hundred years later a Japanese admiral named Kato—change in one letter only—was sent by Japan to tell America what SHE ought to do about her navy."

Governor Morgan of West Virginia protests against the scrapping of the dreadnought named for his State. Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee are expected to protest against scrapping other magnificent battleships. Well they may.

What are we? Hysterical children?

At one moment, seized with the fear of war, we spend billions. Then, with a slippy sentimental fever of brotherly love, we propose scrapping hundreds of millions.

There should be in Congress power and common sense to prevent breaking up the nation's dearly bought defence, as spoiled children break their toys.

Can we not trust ourselves to keep these ships ready in case of emergency?

Behold Uncle Sam in his great, magnificent double impersonation as Samson and Delilah.

As Samson he says to himself, "I am too strong; I must do something about it."

As Delilah he says, "I know how to fix myself; I'll cut off my own hair."

You can't blame Samson. He went to sleep, and his hair was cut off against his will.

But you would have called him an awful idiot if, with enemies thick around him, he had snipped off his own locks.

Every American should read what Lord Northcliffe says of the Japanese menace. Mr. Hearst is printing it in big type in all his newspapers. It ought to be printed in large type on the walls of the Senate, the House of Representatives and the Continental Hall, where the conference meets.

As Northcliffe now speaks, warningly, of Japan, so he spoke of Germany to this writer and dozens of other Americans, when he was here a few months before the war.

"Germany is getting ready for war, and that war will come soon. Europe does not realize it," said he.

He proved technical knowledge, adding, "France may be saved by the fact that she is ahead of all nations in artillery. One of her guns no other nation equals." That was proved in the war.

Northcliffe knows what war between the United States and Japan would cost England. It would mean chaos in British Asia.

Japan is encouraged in her warlike preparations, spending half of her national income getting ready for war, because her alliance with England strengthens the military party.

That warning coming from Northcliffe, next to Lloyd George, most powerful man in the British empire, should have its effect. Northcliffe, who fearlessly warned, advised and criticized his own country in war, now warns and advises us. Our statesmen should listen.

The time to make Japan harmless is NOW.

"Prominent women" call on Secretary Hughes to say that submarines, vipers of the sea, should be abolished along with poison gas.

The submarine is the invisible, efficient watchdog and policeman of a nation's coast. It may be changed into a mad dog when sent out to attack and destroy. But it is the watchdog that every nation should have to protect its coasts from piracy.

A revolver is a hideous weapon, killing without warning, but while burglars and highwaymen exist the householder without a revolver is a fool.

If a fleet came sailing across the Pacific Ocean, bringing in the hold, knocked down, ten thousand flying machines, ready to drop asphyxiating gas and dynamite on American cities, how would the tearful ladies feel if this country had no submarines to meet them?

How ardently would they pray to see invading ships popping the air, one after another, with American submarines attending to them from below, and American flying

BROOKLINE SHOE MAN VICTIM

Levels Revolver at Head in Hotel Rest Room and Commits Suicide

Calmly levelling a revolver at his head, a man identified as F. A. Herry of Boylston street, Brookline, shot himself dead in one of the men's rest rooms of the Copley Plaza Hotel today.

Kerry, who was about 60 years old, was engaged in the shoe business.

The man unobtrusively entered the room and sat down. He seemed engaged in deep thought. Suddenly he reached into his pocket.

Gleaming nickel flashed. A moment later came a roar which brought hotel attaches and guests running to the room.

The man had lurched forward in his chair at the sound of the pistol.

Before attendants could reach his side the body had fallen to the carpet.

Hasty search of his pockets revealed his identity and a hurried call was sent to his home. Relatives immediately started for the hotel to claim the body.

Mystery surrounded the reason for the suicide.

CONEY ISLAND ANGLER YANKED TO SEA BY FISH

New York, Nov. 23.—Bradley Sherman, 18-year-old angler, was caught by a fish today at Coney Island. The fish, whose species could not be learned because it escaped with Sherman's tackle, yanked the young man off a bulkhead and started out to sea. Sherman was unconscious and nearly drowned when other fishermen rescued him and sent him to a hospital.

Marines Kill Mail Bandits Aboard Train

By International News Service

Washington, Nov. 23.—United States marines killed two mail bandits and captured a third in a fight today at some point between here and Pittsburgh, according to a telegram received by the inspector of postoffices here.

The mail clerk aboard train No. 91, which arrived in Pittsburgh from Washington, reported to the postmaster at Pittsburgh that his car was attacked by three bandits and that two of them were slain outright by the marines detailed to guard the mail car. The third bandit, he reported, was captured and was being held b the authorities.

BOUGHT 26 BARRELS OF WATER FOR $14,000

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 23.—Ferdinand Elia, owner of 26 barrels of 100 proof water, for which he paid $14,000, today identified Emil Wentz of Grand Forks, N. D., as one of three men who convinced him by a tasting test that they contained 103 proof whiskey. Elia told the police he had been permitted to select a barrel, to bore his own hole, to insert a rubber tube and to sample what came out. One of the men manipulated the tube until it was connected up with a rubber bag, beneath his coat, which contained "red eye."

MRS. BORDA SUED FOR $20,000 BY CONTRACTORS

Providence, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Avice Weed Borda, recently granted a divorce from her husband, Wenceslao Borda, wealthy Porto Rican, has been made defendant in a suit for $20,000 by the Briggs Engineering and Construction Company of this city for work done at her estate, Narragansett Pier. The company charges breach of contract.

PELLETIER IN NEW ATTACK

Will Take Fight to U. S. Supreme Court on Constitutionality of Action to Remove Him

District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier sprang two surprises before the Supreme Court today—the first, a demand for immediate trial on the new contempt of court charges preferred by Attorney-General J. Weston Allen; the second, a declaration that the original attempt to remove him was contrary to the constitutions of Massachusetts and the United States.

Pelletier filed a lengthy petition for a "writ of prohibition," which, if granted, would throw the original case against him out of court.

He declared that Section 4 of Chapter 311, under which the charges were drawn and the bill for his removal modelled, was unconstitutional under the Fourteenth Article of the American Constitutional Amendments and under Twelfth Article of the Massachusetts Bill of Rights.

A hearing on the "writ of prohibition" only was granted by Justice De Courcy for Friday morning.

MAY APPEAL TO U. S.

Lawyers who observed the proceedings, and they were many, were of the opinion that Pelletier's action today presaged an appeal to the courts of the United States in the event that he was disbarred by the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth.

The "new charges" on which Pelletier demanded immediate trial grew out of Attorney-General Allen's allegation that the Suffolk district attorney was making statements subversive of law and order on the stump.

The particular statement cited was the following, alleged to have been made by Pelletier at a rally:

"If any man tells you I am going to resign, tell him he's a liar. If he persists, back it up, and I'll nol pros the case."

Attorney-General Allen arose at the conclusion of Pelletier's brief address

VANISHES ON EVE OF WEDDING

Foul Play Feared in Disappearance of North End Man

What sinister hand snatched away Victor Gandolfe, twenty-three years old, almost on the eve of his wedding to nineteen-year-old Leonora Castiglione and left her crying and prostrated at the little home they had furnished at No. 220 Hanover street, North End?

This is the mystery the police of Boston and Quincy were trying to solve today, for Gandolfe vanished as if swallowed up by earth from the home of his uncle, Joseph Angelo, No. 229 Washington street, Quincy, on Monday afternoon after promising his sweetheart that he would call for her in the evening.

Everything was all ready for the wedding Thanksgiving Day in the Italian church in North Square. The flat had been furnished and Leonora was putting the last finishing touches on her trosseau.

As he left her Monday morning, kissing her good-by, he said: "I'll call tonight and we'll take in a movie. I'm going down to Uncle Joe's in Quincy and will be back tonight early." And as he did so he showed her his pocket book bulging with $520 in bills.

"We'll have a bang-up honeymoon, dear," he said fondly.

Early in the afternoon he called at the home of his uncle. Mr. Angelo was out, but telephoned he would be right back. Meantime Gandolfe announced he would go out for a stroll. That was the last seen of him.

As night came and he failed to return, Leonora began to be alarmed. And when no word came the next day, she frantically appealed to the police.

Foul play is the theory of his relatives. Police are reticent.

Meanwhile wedding plans are off, while a broken-hearted dark-haired little girl weeps over her wedding veil and refuses to be comforted.

Gandolfe was a registered druggist and was employed by an uncle, Nicholas Angelo, at No. 162 Salem street, North End.

DRIVER IS HURLED 25 FEET BY IMPACT

Owner of Lakecroft Inn Near Death Following Turnpike Collision

One man is dying and four others were injured early today in a head-on collision between two automobiles on the Newburyport turnpike, near the Danvers-Peabody line.

The dying man is John C. Rauch, proprietor of Lakecroft Inn, Hamilton, whose wife, Marion F. Rauch, and Albert Johnson, a colored waiter, were given jail sentences of nine months each in the Boston Municipal Court last August, which they appealed. Rauch instituted divorce proceedings against his wife, naming Anderson as co-respondent.

The Peabody police are investigating peculiar circumstances connected with the accident, and hint that arrests may follow.

Rauch is at the Thomas Hospital, Peabody, with a fractured skull and internal injuries, and is still unconscious.

The injured:

State Police Officer Ira Taylor, 199 Essex street, Lynn. Treated for bruises about head, face and body.

A woman who gave her name at the hospital as Mrs. Ira F. Taylor. Slight bruises and suffering from shock.

Harry Batchelder, a young Peabody ice dealer. Treated for bruises.

His fiancee, Miss Mary Parker of Front street, Marblehead. Suffering from shock and slight bruises.

According to the police, Rauch was in the machine with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. Batchelder's machine was drawn up along the roadside without lights, the police charge. Taylor, at the wheel of his car, was coming down the turnpike at a high rate of speed, and crashed headlong into the Batchelder machine parked on the right hand side of the road, before any one in the Rauch car was aware that a machine was parked on the roadside.

TWO CAMBRIDGE POLICEMEN IN FIGHT

Patrolman Walsh Accuses Henry, Brother Officer; Case Dismissed

A quarrel between two Cambridge police officers became known today when one was in court on a warrant charging assault on the other.

Patrolman David H. Walsh of Station 3 was going home along Cambridge street when he was struck on the mouth by Patrolman Frank H. Henry, also of Station 3, according to the story.

Walsh secured a warrant, charging assault and battery, and it was served on Henry by Captain Timothy F. Leahy.

No plea was made by Henry on his appearance before Judge Counihan today in district court and the matter was adjusted and the case dismissed.

Neither of the officers will discuss the case. Chief of Police John J. McBride was awaiting full details on the case before acting.

$10,000 FIRE IN SOUTH BOSTON COAL POCKETS

Fire Boat Aids in Fight on Blaze at East First Street Wharves

With Fire Boat No. 44 throwing smashing streams from the water side and firemen manning ten lines of hose on the land, a blaze that threatened 25,000 tons of coal at the wharves of the Stetson Coal Company, No. 496 East First street, South Boston, was quickly extinguished today.

The blaze, starting in a combination storage and coal shed, spread to two great pockets. Assistant District Chief Edwin Richardson ordered a second alarm as soon as he reached the scene and the blaze was stayed. Damage will reach about $10,000.

"Real Estate Opportunities Do Not Respect Seasons"

Some one recently asked a man who had made money in real estate what he considered the best time of the year to invest. His reply, as quoted above, contains a world of wisdom.

The ever-present now is always an opportune time, as will be evidenced by a glance through the "Real Estate" columns in The American.

Opportunities for profitable investment are on every side, no matter how small or how large the sum you want to put to work.

Whether you want to buy a home or business property, opportunities are rarely lacking among these listings.

If, however, there should be some special proposition you are seeking, it will pay you to run an Ad of your own. When you have put your want into words, leave it with or

PORTLAND FIREBUG SOUGHT BY POLICE

Portland, Me., Nov. 23.—The police are investigating the origin of a blaze discovered under the cellar stairway of a house under construction at No. 35 Coyle street. The charred ruins of the stairway indicated that several of the treads had been removed, kindling wood stuffed under the stairs and the blaze started. Arthur E. Moore, owner of the house, was at a loss as to the possible identity of the incendiary.

FERRERO FEARS MORE WARS IF ARMS PARLEY FAILS

By GUGLIELMO FERRERO,
Noted Italian Historian.
(Copyright, 1921, by Universal Service)

Rome, Nov. 23.—Any even partial form of disarmament presupposes a purification of the mentalities of nations. The Washington conference will hence be forced to examine some of these on some of the most important questions confronting it.

And how many opportunities will be presented during the discussions of the conference, to the hidden and open enemies of peace, to excite themselves over problems which seem innocuous, but which instead lead to wars.

During the whole nineteenth century and down to the World War, in all minor wars that raged, advantage was taken of this fatal weakness of people to force them into wars.

Statesmen will try by these means also to cause the conference to fail, just as they succeeded in sterilizing the Paris congress at all points where it might have been fruitful.

2 FRENCH COUNTESSES KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Paris, Nov. 23.—Countess de Wignacourt, wife of General Simon de Wignacourt, and Viscountess de Chabot were instantly killed yesterday when they were struck by an auto truck in the Place d'Alma. The accident occurred in a dense fog.

ARMOUR MAN SEIZED BY ARGENTINE BANDITS

Buenos Aires, Nov. 23.—S. J. MacDey of Kansas City, manager of the Armour Packing Plant near Santa Cruz, has been captured by bandits, who are also threatening to attack the plant, according to wireless reports received here. The American embassy called the situation to the attention of the Argentine government and marines are reported to have been landed at the plant. The bandits are reported to be mostly foreigners, including Russians, and to be well organized.

MARIE GOFF WOULD JOIN DIVORCE LIST

New York, Nov. 23.—Wooing as in Mr. Shakespeare's comedy of "Treat 'Em Rough, Kid, Treat 'Em Rough," sometimes known as "The Taming of the Shrew," went very well with Marie Goff on the stage. But off stage was different.

For dainty Marie was quite captivated by the strenuous third degree of John Cromwell as he played opposite her on the stage in "At 9:45." Captivated by the handsome stage detective chief, she slipped away one day and played another engagement before a parson.

Now she's sorry. She wants a divorce.

DEFENDS RECORD OF MURPHY IN HOUSE

Morris Declares Candidate Has Always Been Just to Labor Questions

That John R. Murphy had a fair and honorable record of just-dealing with the working men and women of the State before James M. Curley was a voter was asserted by Attorney Charles H. Morris, manager of Murphy's campaign, in a statement made today. Attorney Morris said:

"The gentleman who is devoting himself to nightly tirades against Mr. Murphy is either unaware or entirely ignores the fact that Mr. Murphy had established a public record of fair treatment of the working man and woman while Mr. Curley himself was still a fledgling.

"Mr. Murphy served in the Massachusetts Legislature thirty-five years ago. Progressive labor issues were then not so sharply defined as now, but it is a noteworthy fact that Mr. Murphy then was advocating a policy of just-dealing that would have commended itself to such a firm friend of the workingman as Mr. Curley professes himself to be.

VOTED IN FAVOR.

"Mr. Murphy then voted for the bills to establish weekly payment of wages, for evening high schools, for regulation of the employment of minors, and, among many others, the bill to establish workmen's compensation for payment of specific sums to men and women injured in the course of their employment.

"In contrast with that record, Mr. Curley reduced the wages established during the administration of his predecessor. He demoted the city employes and discharged them because they refused to contribute to political campaigns in which he was interested or to attend rallies to which he ordered them to go.

"His efforts to reduce the pay of the policemen was blocked by the late Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara and in the Fire Department General Charles H. Cole resigned as fire commissioner rather than obey Curley's demands to reduce the pay of the firemen.

19 JOBS GIVEN BACK.

"In the Public Works Department 19 men were restored to their positions after the courts had found that Mr. Curley discharged them because they refused to take part in political contests in which he was interested."

Murphy's rally schedule tonight includes four meetings, as follows:

Beaconsfield Club smoker, Copley-Plaza, Representative Elijah Adlow presiding; South End Improvement Association; Latin School Hall, Warren avenue; anniversary banquet and dance of Bavarian Sick Benefit Association, Arbeiter Hall; St. Ambrose reunion, Dorchester High School.

Henry L. Shattuck Out for Murphy

Representative Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, the foremost independent Republican member of the Legislature, and the man through whose efforts the House killed the scheme of the united gas and electric corporations to capitalize $30,000,000 of their premiums, today announced he will support the candidacy of John R. Murphy for Mayor.

The city of Boston is a great organization, Mr. Shattuck said. The treatment of the poor and unfortunate, the protection of the people's health, the care of streets, playgrounds and parks, the protection of the city from fire, and the supervision of all the numerous city's activities are vested in the Mayor.

"And all these departments," he said, "perform services which vitally affect every one of us in our daily lives. We all want better and cleaner streets, more playgrounds and many other improvements. And in order that our money may purchase, so far as possible, all the comforts and conveniences we desire, we all want to get a dollar's worth for every dollar expended. And we want a non-partisan, progressive, humane and efficient administration of our city affairs.

"Of all the candidates, I believe that Mr. Murphy is the one who, by experience and training—and above and beyond all by character—measures up to the requirements of the great office of Mayor of our city, and I am glad to have this opportunity to endorse his candidacy."

O'Connor Blames Politics for City's Lost Prestige

Speaking before mayoralty campaign audiences in house rallies in Roslindale and other parts of Boston, Charles S. O'Connor declared that machine politics, with its attendant factional strife, is causing Boston to "steadily lose its once wonderful prestige among big cities of the world."

O'Connor added that he is the only candidate in the list who is untrammeled by influence of a political machine. He asserted that he is pledged to no party or interests, and predicted that he would win a huge majority of the votes of the women in the forthcoming elections.

He declared that 13,000 signatures had been filed with his nomination papers.

REED RETRACTS ATTACK HE MADE ON VOLSTEAD

Washington, Nov. 23.—Senator James Reed, Democrat of Missouri today retracted his statement that Andrew J. Volstead, author of the prohibition law, reminded him "of a burner of witches." At Reed's request the Senate today expunged from the Congressional Record remarks he made in the course of an attack on Volstead during a debate August 18.

ARBUCKLE ANXIOUS TO TAKE STAND; HOPES FOR VINDICATION

ATTORNEYS PROMISE SURPRISE

By International News Service.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle was fighting today for vindication. "We want to make the defence case so complete and so convincing that not only will this defendant be acquitted but so he will stand vindicated," Gavin McNab, his chief counsel, said today.

It was learned today that it is the intention of the defence to set up a theory to account for the happenings construed by the State as evidence of the film star's guilt "so simple as to have been overlooked by the prosecution."

"Fatty" is likely to take the stand in his own defense. This is a matter which probably will not be finally determined until a few minutes before the comedian takes the stand.

"Arbuckle is ready and willing to take the stand—in fact anxious," a member of the defense counsel said today.

"We hope he does" was the comment of District Attorney Brady, "I have contended from the first that there were two persons who could explain what happened in Room 1219 at the party. If Arbuckle won't—no one else can.

"But," he added, "we will give him a warm afternoon if he takes the stand."

The State claims Arbuckle was in the room with Virginia Rappe anywhere from a half hour to an hour. The defense will claim the period of time did not exceed ten minutes.

The State fixes the time of the alleged occurrence around 3 o'clock. This time will be disputed by the defense.

"We will prove our client innocent by the clock," said McNab in his brief opening statement to the jury.

The State finished the presentation of its case and the defence put on four witnesses, two of whom were permitted to testify. The other two were ruled out by the court. One of these was Glenner and the other was a nurse, Miss Martha Hamilton, who attended Miss Rappe shortly before her death.

DEFENCE SCORES.

By Miss Hamilton, McNab wanted to show that Miss Rappe was suffering from a certain ailment, but the court refused to permit her to answer questions on this point.

By the two witnesses who were permitted to answer, however, the defense scored on important points. Mrs. Lois Harding Lancashire, society woman, occupied room 1,218 at the St. Francis Hotel on the day of the Arbuckle party.

She was next door to the room in which Miss Rappe is said to have received the injury that caused her death and Mrs. Lancashire stated she heard no outcry nor unusual noise, despite the fact that her transom and windows were open. A vigorous cross-examination failed to shake her testimony.

The other witness for the defence was Mrs. Kate Brennan, a chambermaid, who is proud of her technique. Though her answers afford no small amusement to the spectators, her evidence was important in that it tended to refute the fingerprint evidence introduced earlier in the day by the prosecution.

POLISHED DOORS.

Mrs. Brennan was put on the witness stand to testify that she wiped the doors of room 1219 after Miss Rappe was carried to another room. It was on the doors that the State is said to have found the fingerprints of the defendant and Miss Rappe.

Crowned with a hat of unbelievable height, Mrs. Brennan was a unique witness, but she met a severe cross-examination with such clear answers and inflexible determination that she came through undismayed.

"It just goes to show," said a woman reporter, "that you can't always tell about a woman by her hat."

On direct examination Mrs. Brennan gave the jury an example of door polishing that left nothing to the imagination.

Armed with a dust cloth she scrubbed the wood work of the court room until it shone, and, then turning triumphantly to face the court, she said: "And that's the way I scrubbed the doors at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of September 5, when the party was over."

RECEIVED $12.50 TIP.

On cross-examination Mrs. Brennan revealed that Arbuckle tipped her $12.50 when she had finished her work and that he came into the room, looked at her and said:

"With that may, can't you have a drink of whiskey?" To which she replied:

"I never drink when I'm on duty."

The witness whom Mrs. Brennan sought to contradict was E. O. Heinrichs, who described himself as a "consulting criminologist," the title given Sherlock Holmes by Conan Doyle. And Heinrichs was Holmes prototype in real life.

Seated at the side of Gavin McNab was another "criminologist" advising the defence for purposes of cross-examination.

"If Heinrichs is Sherlock Holmes" said a spectator, "I suppose this other man is Craig Kennedy."

Flying Auto Is Tried Out Successfully by Frenchmen

By Associated Press.

Paris, Nov. 23.—A flying automobile is the latest development in the French aero world.

A successful demonstration of an ordinary automobile with folding wings, two engines, one of ten horsepower for land going and the other of 300 horsepower for air travel, was held recently at Buc, Seine-et-Oise.

The machine performed all the usual feats of an airplane, and also of an automobile.

JURORS DISAGREE IN HOLYOKE DAMAGES CASE

Holyoke, Nov. 23.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Mary Fournier against the Holyoke Street Railway, in which the plaintiff sues for $30,000 for damages alleged to be the result of an accident, December 20, 1918, reported a disagreement to Judge Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke, presiding at the sitting of the Hampden County Superior Court.

440 ROUSED BY COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL FIRE

Elevator Man's Speed in Engineering Prevents Panic; $10,000 Damage

Fire, starting in the basement of the Copley Square Hotel, early today, forced the 440 guests to leave their beds and huddle in the big reception rooms on the first floor until the blaze had been extinguished and the dense smoke that filled the upper halls had cleared away.

The fire, which appears to have flared up in the bakeshop chimney was discovered by Patrolmen Boland and Burns of the Back Bay station.

While Burns raced to sound the alarm Boland warned the night clerk, Thomas Hayes. Hayes immediately began calling the sleeping guests by telephone and Boland groped has way through the smoked-filled hallways, pounding on the doors of the rooms and warning as many of the guests as he could.

So swiftly did the policemen and the elevator man work, and so efficient were the methods employed, that not even four-year-old Dorothy Walton of Manchester, Ct., who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Walton, was caught on the fourth floor of the building, was badly frightened.

District Chief Walter R. McLean, as soon as he arrived, discovered the flames eating their way up through the space between the inner and outer walls of the building.

This forced the firemen to tear down large sections of the inner wall on the lower floor, especially in the large dining room.

The damage done was estimated at approximately $10,000.

SHOOTS DOG THAT ANNOYS DYING BABY

Worcester, Nov. 23.—His baby dying in his home, No. 9 Satucket road, John A. Nelson fired rock salt at a barking dog that was alleged to be annoying the infant, which died the following day. Nelson was in Central District Court, charged with cruelty to animals and was discharged after he had told his story. The dog was owned by Allen H. Nylen, of No. 11 Scrimgeour road.

14 ARE KILLED IN NEW RIOTS AT BELFAST

Sniper Shoots Down Workmen; Cars in Ulster Capital Run Unlighted

Galway, Ireland, Nov. 23 (by the Associated Press).—Forty political prisoners confined in the prison here rushed the warders today while a fire of uncertain origin was blazing in two sections of the structure.

The men seized the keys and barricaded themselves with six warders in another part of the prison.

Belfast, Nov. 23 (by the Associated Press).—Belfast's long list of fatalities as the result of factional rioting began to grow today, one victim being added to the thirteen killed in outbreaks attending the assumption of government powers by the new Ulster Parliament yesterday.

Fears of further trouble were realized by the time activities were resumed in Dock street, a foreman who was engaging laborers there for the shipyards being picked off by a sniper. The foreman, whose name was Branton, dropped dead on the spot.

Workmen's cars in the early hours proceeded without lights so they might have better chances of reaching their destination without casualties.

Today the 9 o'clock curfew was ordered imposed in the affected area in East Belfast and the notorious riot centre on the Antrim side of the River Lagan, including North Queen street, York street and the dock areas, where the present troubles arose.

The police and military are at the disposal of the new Ulster government.

During the morning a woman of middle age was shot and dangerously wounded.

Occasional bursts of firing occurred during the dinner hour in several districts, causing pedestrians to flee for safety.

Turmoil in Belfast Is Like Civil War

London, Nov. 23 (By the Associated Press).—Rioting which began in Belfast Sunday had its climax yesterday in a state of shooting, bombing and turmoil approaching civil war.

It is declared the disorders were planned to coincide with the assumption yesterday of the government of Ulster by the Northern Parliament.

Dispatches to the London Press from Belfast place the blame according to the sympathy of the respective newspapers.

Various accounts of the day's disorders suggest that the aggression on the whole was reciprocal and due to the ever-existing rancor between the Nationalists and Orangemen.

The total casualties in the series of outbreaks up to midnight last night stood at thirteen persons dead with more than fifty seriously wounded in the hospitals. Scores of other persons less seriously injured were treated at their homes.

Lloyd George Puts Off Meeting With Craig

London, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The conference on Irish settlement propositions which was to have been held today between Premier Lloyd George and Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, has been put off until the latter part of the week.

Lloyd George met representatives of the Sinn Fein this forenoon in their first conference since the discussions with Ulster and afterwards the Prime Minister communicated with the Ulster Premier, asking him to postpone their conversation until Friday.

A brief communique showed that the participants in the conference were Lloyd George, Viscount Birkenhead and Austen Chamberlain for the government, and Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and Robert C. Barton for the Dail Eireann. Eamon J. Duggan accompanied the Irish delegates.

It was announced this afternoon that no further meeting with the Sinn Fein representatives was likely to be held until Lloyd George had seen the Ulster Premier.

SKIPPER'S WIFE IS HEROINE IN MUTINY

Comes to Husband's Aid When Negro Attacks Him With Knife

When the schooner Lillian E. Kerr, from Jacksonville to Boston, with a load of lumber, consigned to the Wendell Brown Lumber Company of this city, made port after a stormy trip she brought a tale of woman's daring, of mutiny on the high seas and of an attempt at murder equal to anything in the pages of fiction.

The woman is Mrs. Eda Poppe, wife of the skipper George E. Poppe, and the other characters in the near tragedy were the mate of the schooner and Frank Howell, seaman, thirty-three years old, of Trinidad, West Indies.

Seated in the cuddy of his ship, with his wife just across the cabin table, quietly sewing, Captain Poppe today told the tale.

"From the moment we dropped the coast of Florida and the sand dunes and cays of the gulf behind we began to have trouble," he said. "You see this was my first coasting voyage in years and I was in a hurry to make a speedy trip.

"But we encountered head seas and when we got into the Gulf Stream the weather was bad with contrary winds and fogs. The crew made trouble from the first. With the exception of myself, my wife and the mate all on board the ship were West Indian negroes and it was hard to get them to work.

"Howell was the worst. He was surly and disobedient from the moment he came aboard and for a time I thought I would have to discharge him, but decided to take a chance and go on with him.

"The climax came on the night of November 13. It was the mate's watch on deck, but I went up to take a look around before turning in.

"I found Howell, at the wheel, was sound asleep. I waked him up and gave him a dressing down. He began reviling me.

"He yanked out a long-bladed knife and made a lunge at me. I struck him on the jaw, knocking him down, but he came at me again, shouting, 'One of us has got to die.'

"His yells roused my wife, who came running on deck with my revolver, and the mate who had been up forward, but now came to aid me. The other members of the crew stood by and watched, without taking sides.

"My wife slipped my revolver into my hand and then ran to the wheel and got the ship on its course, while I tackled Howell.

"Twice he almost had me, but at last as he missed a thrust I shot him. The bullet entered his back and came out his right side. Then the mate and I overpowered him and took his knife away."

After the ship reached Boston harbor Mrs. Poppe, armed with the revolver her husband had used on Howell, was left in command while the mate and skipper rowed up to the city. The two men found it impossible to get back to the ship that night, and all through the dark hours the little woman stayed there on guard alone.

GASOLINE TANK EXPLODES IN EAST DEDHAM

Workman Seriously Hurt and Windows Shattered in Plant Employing 300

One man was seriously injured and 300 employes of the Hodges Finishing Company on Bussey street, East Dedham, were badly frightened, when a gasoline tank in the establishment exploded today, shattering thirty panes of glass and causing a tremendous report.

Lawrence V. Brindley of River street, Hyde Park, who was working on the gasoline tank and who was the innocent cause of the explosion, was hurled twenty-five feet and was badly burned.

He was taken to the Dedham Emergency Hospital and later to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The tank was supposed to be empty when Brindley went to work on it with soldering utensils.

Gasoline fumes and dregs, however, remained in the tank, and caused an explosion when his torch was applied.

MILDRED HARRIS CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Though it is nice to be the cynosure of a million eyes, more or less, in the movies, Mildred Harris, divorced wife of Charlie Chaplin, really shrank from braving the curious ogling of a crowded court room. So she settled out of court the action of George W. Rubinstein to prevent her appearance at a Boston theatre. And she will continue to appear here on the stage, finishing her engagement.

Rubinstein had sued to restrain her and enjoin George E. Lothrop, owner and manager of the theatre, from employing her, claiming a contract from her to appear on a Western circuit.

MRS. OBENCHAIN'S CASE DELAYED INDEFINITELY

Los Angles, Nov. 23.—An attempt to have Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain indicted with Arthur C. Burch for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, tried before his case was called was made yesterday, when Burch went on trial before Superior Court Judge Reeve. The motion was overruled by Judge Reeve, who decided that Burch must go on trial immediately and continued Mrs. Obenchain's case indefinitely to follow that of Burch.

Actress Sees No Need For U.S. Birth Control

Different Divorce Laws in Various States Is Best For Country, Beatrice Forbes Robertson Says.

By HAZEL CANNING.

Birth control may be right for one couple and wrong for the other. At any rate, in these United States, there is small reason for the promulgation of birth control, small reason for its practice. For, in the United States, the people who might—offhand—be said to need it don't know about it or won't practice it. At any rate, birth control is a sort of spontaneous thing. Since, at crises in any country where birth control could be practiced with benefit to the nation, the birth rate shows an automatic tendency to decrease.

This is the doctrine of Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale, actress, author, lecturer, mother and member of an English family of world-famous actors. Mrs. Hale is spending a few days in Boston as the guest of Mrs. Allan Forbes of No. 70 Beacon street. While here, she graciously spoke for the Massachusetts League of Women Voters at their annual bazaar at the Copley-Plaza.

Mrs. Hale is on a lecture tour through the country, by the way, her mission being to help straighten out for women some of the current unrests and perplexities among the sex. At Mrs. Forbes' home, Mrs. Hale discussed, quite informally, a few of the present questions. First of all, in regard to divorce:

"Don't think it a hardship because every State in the Union has a differing divorce law," Mrs. Hale advised.

"In divergence is your strength. It is good for the country that divorces are obtained far too readily in the West, and in some States in the South not at all. It is good for the country that in the East various reasons will secure a divorce, while in New York State only infidelity is considered.

U. S. A DIVORCE LABORATORY.

It is good, because in every State of the Union, practically, you are maintaining a divorce laboratory, a separate divorce experiment station. Finally, then, when at last the time comes for a good, sound, national divorce law, you will have that law, founded upon the congregated wisdom of your forty-eight different experiment stations."

Mrs. Hale contrasted the liberality of divorce for women in this country with the unequal situation in England, as between men and women.

"In England," said she, "English men can get a divorce for infidelity, or cruel treatment, while English women have to show both. This is very unfair, and this law is one which our political women's leagues are working to change."

Now, of old, ever since the armistice, people have been telling how the women in every country around the world, were going to the dogs. Stern old moralists, either very shocked, or pretending to be very shocked, have shaken their heads and said, "Dear, dear, it is a pity."

Mrs. Hale just laughs at all the current terrible prohecies.

"The world is moving ahead, equably, sanely, propitiously," said she. "If the good head-shakers will only let it alone. We hear of very short skirts and very foolish dances in—well—in France, for instance. And we go there, with eyes open. Then we see a nation fiercely, passionately, heart and soul at work, repairing its war wreck.

"Now take in America. We listen, full often, to excoriations of the liberties of young girls, how they gad, and how they snatch at liberties, too [illegible]y akin to license. As a matter of fact, I do not think any of this silly young girl phase of American life is a matter for alarm.

NOT ALARMED ABOUT GIRLS.

"I have been a guest in many American homes, and I have noticed full often that the giddy, dancing, highty-tighty dressing girl of yesterday has developed into the sweet, sane matron of today, splendidly ordering her household, looking after husband and children in a fashion that would put some erstwhile soberer girls to shame. It may be that the American girl settles down to be a far better wife, for a little period of youthful freedom. At any rate, marriage seems to mellow and to develop your women into charming, responsible matrons, to whom the race and the family, the hearth and the home, may be intrusted with all safety."

The talk shifted to birth control.

"Not needed in this country," said Mrs. Hale. "Your population here is only thirty-five to the square mile. In England, where it is 600 to the square mile, the problem is entirely different. That is why, perhaps, that our 'Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women' is doing a pertinent work.

"Before the war we had sent to British colonies, positions secured for them, ere they started, several thousands of British women. Since the war, we have sent many more. The 2,000,000 excess women over men, in England, are still deserving of the three needs of any woman's life—love, children and work. If they cannot get these at home a place must be found where they can get these away from home. Therefore the society."

In Mrs. Hale's opinion, there is one great need for women in every country. That is a large, non-partisan, political organization, readily wielded, which, in time of need, will split a ticket for a principle and forget parties altogether.

"That is what we are working for in England," explained Mrs. Hale. "And that is what you have already here in the United States in your League of Women Voters."

ANTI-BEER BILL SIGNED BY HARDING

Limits Sales for Medicinal Purposes and Checks Brewery Operations

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Harding today signed the anti-beer bill. This bill, which now becomes law, prevents the sale of beer for medicinal purposes and will immediately check the operations of breweries which have been making beer for sale as medicine under regulations recently issued by the Treasury Department.

The bill also limits the number of prescriptions of wines and liquors which may be issued by physicians.

The bill provides for search and seizure, but provides a penalty for any officer who searches a home without a warrent and also provides a penalty for any person who searches a home with malicious intent while posing as prohibition officer.

The bill also extends the prohibition laws to the Virgin Islands and other possessions of the United States.

FARRAR'S SUIT TO BE STARTED ON DEC. 5

New York, Nov. 23.—Attorneys for Geraldine Farrar, famous operatic singer, have filed notice with the county clerk to the effect that the diva's divorce action against Lou Tellegen, the actor, has been noted for trial on December 5, or "as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard." This will not, Tellegen's attorneys declared, affect their motion to have his separation suit, which is now a separate action, consolidated with the diva's divorce action.

'BLUEBEARD' IS SHOWN BONES OF VICTIMS

Accused Frenchman Denies Authenticity of Fragments Seen at Versailles

Versailles, Nov. 23 (by the Associated Press).—A small tin box containing a pound and a half of bones was passed around today for examination by the jury which is trying "Bluebeard" Landru for murder. The prosecution claims they are human bones, all that remain of the eleven alleged victims of the prisoner.

Some of the fragments were so small that they had to be examined by microscopes. The defence challenges the authenticity of the bones, attaching great importance to its claim that the police of Mantes searched Landru's villa at Gambais on April 14, 1919, without finding any such evidences of violence, although the Paris police claim to have found them on April 28 of the same year.

"What has been your method of executing victims—by firearms, poison or strangling?" was Judge Gilbert's first question to Landru as court reconvened today.

The judge admitted that the prosecution could consider all three of these hypotheses, recognizing that in the nature of the case it was unable to establish any one of them by absolute proof.

"It would be much simpler to make the hypothesis that I killed none at all," responded Landru.

The prosecution undertook, although unable to establish the method of killing, to prove that the alleged victims were cremated. Pointing to the small cook stove, placed in the centre of the court room, the prisoner shouted derisively:

"Why, you couldn't cremate a chicken in it."

The prosecution charges that the "Bluebeard" used the stove to cremate his alleged victims after he had chopped them up into bits.

JEWISH CENTRE IN EAST BOSTON TO BE DEDICATED

The new home of the East Boston Jewish Welfare Centre will be dedicated Sunday. It is in memory of the heroes of the East Boston Jewish colony who died in the World War. While the dedication proceedings are on, Flaherty Post, American Legion, will be dedicating the square at the intersection of White and Brooks streets to David A. Hoffman, who was an ensign aboard the U. S. S. Tampa when she went down with all aboard. The latter event will be preceded by a parade, with seamen from the U. S. S. North Dakota, on which Hoffman trained gun crews, in the line. Also in line will be a delegation from Lawrence J. Flaherty Post, East Boston High School Cadets, and all the Jewish organizations in East Boston.

The parade will start at 2 o'clock from Sumner and Border streets, East Boston. It will finish at "Hoffman square."

FITCHBURG GIRL DRIVER IS HELD BLAMELESS

Fitchburg, Nov. 23.—Special Justice Levy has filed with Superior Court his report clearing Miss Catherine M. JAPANESE MUST JUSTIFY HOLD ON MANCHURIA

Chinese to Submit Bill Showing Their 10 Points Not Covered in Resolves

By NORMAN HAPGOOD

Staff Correspondent of Boston American.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The first sharp, clear and specific step toward the protection of China was taken by the conference committee on Far Eastern questions when it was made known that Senator Underwood's proposal to clear up first her revenue-raising powers would be rushed through without delay.

With this accomplished, other specific applications of the general principles agreed upon will be put through with equal speed, it was stated.

It was also established that when the word China is used it is to be understood as including Manchuria. This means that Japan will be forced to justify her hold on this great province or restore it to the republic of China. The American delegation is enthusiastically a unit in the policy to be pursued and the methods to be used. As if to make this point clear Senator Root put forward the first declaration of our policy on China, and Senator Underwood, second.

It was also established that Mr. Root's four principles are expected to apply absolutely to what is done in the future in China and that the extent to which they can apply to rights, privileges, and advantages already acquired remains to be thrashed out.

At the meeting of the committee yesterday, Secretary Hughes requested the Chinese delegation to draw up what might be termed a "Bill of Particulars" with reference to their ten points. The Chinese have complained that the four resolutions adopted by the committee fail to cover their ten demands. Acting on Mr. Hughes' request, they will now submit a detailed statement setting forth what they contend their ten points stand for.

PROGRESS IS RAPID.

Information was received in certain quarters that Monsieur Loucheur is seriously considering coming to this country within a short time, as he, backed by M. Briand, is the author of what progress has been made toward an economic rapprochement between France and Germany (acting through Herr Rathenau). This possibility throws an interesting light on what may, in the adroit French Premier's mind, have lain behind his appeal of Monday.

Nothing perhaps in all the day's developments was as important as the intimation, very authoritatively conveyed, that the progress being made in informal conversations between the leading delegates is much more rapid than it could be if it were to be measured by technical reports and formulated agreements.

ARMAMENTS TODAY.

On the armament side there was no product except rumors, but when the committee on limitation of armaments meets today at 10:30 the controversial questions will be dealt with and on at least some of them progress reported.

The two most immediate questions are Japan's desire to keep the Mutsu and her desire to have the ratio 10-10-7 instead of 10-10-6.

On the ratio the United States will be adamant. On the Mutsu there has been no absolute decision as to whether other ships will be accepted in her stead.

Next comes the feeling between the British and the French on the question of submarines. The French are endeavoring to lay the foundation now for a much stronger navy than the British think they ought to have. Italy sides with Britain.

U. S. SECRETIVE.

The American position on her own naval needs cannot be stated, since it is locked in the bosoms of the President and the Secretary of State. The reports of the naval experts have merely the status of information.

The proceedings of the sub-committee to settle the financial freedom of China will be watched for the next few days with more interest than anything else that can now be foreseen. So confident are some of the men concerned that the business will be wound up quickly that a number of the minor representatives of foreign powers have taken passage on the Aquitania for December 13.

JAPAN, WHOLE PROBLEM.

On that committee will fall the real work of the whole complicated Far Eastern question. Japan is the whole problem. Within a few days it is believed that she will be pushed into definite answers on such problems as Shantung, the twenty-one demands and the South Manchurian Railway. It is believed that of these questions the one on which Japan will fight hardest will be the degree to which she is to control, or share with China in the control of the south part of the Manchurian railway.

When the sub-committee has done its first job, which will be the undoing of the agreements that now prevent China from raising her own revenue from tariffs to an extent beyond 5 per cent., it will next take up those agreements which set aside specific sources of income to pay off certain definite obligations.

CHINA AGGRIEVED.

After it has settled these two points, and gone on to the other aspects of the Chinese question, it will be brought up in the end, face to face with the alliance between Japan and Great Britain.

It will postpone a definite approach to that subject as long as it can, because the willingness of both Britain and Japan to cancel it will depend on the substance and also on the form of the final agreement about the Far East.

PEACE OR WAR?
Studies at the Washington Conference
XII.
THUS FAR.

How are we getting on in Washington?

The general mood is hopefulness tempered by congestion, mental and physical, and by sheer fatigue. There is no rest in Washington, no cessation. Last Winter I was a happy invalid at Amalfi, I sat in the Italian sunshine, the hours were vast globes of golden time, my mind and my soul were my own. Now I live to the tune of a telephone bell and the little feverish American hours slip through my hot, dry hands before I can turn my thoughts round.

I wish I could attend to everything. The Conference has evolved two committees, one on Disarmament and one on Pacific affairs, which meet behind closed doors, so that one has three or four divergent reports of what has happened to chose from; delegates at all hours and in devious ways call together the press men to make more or less epoch-making statements; there are particular conferences with representative business men of this country and educationists of that, and so forth; one is called upon by a multitude of well-informed people insistent upon that fact or that point of view, eloquent sidelights from South China, Albania, Czecho-Slovakia clamour for attention.

And there is a terrible multitude of mere pesterers, who want to do something—they know not what. The weather here is unusually warm and inclined to be cloudy, a brewhouse atmosphere, due entirely, one humorist declares, to the tremendous fermentation that is going on.

Three Questions of Significance.

The fermenting vat overflows with the press of all the world. All the world, we feel, is present in spirit at Washington.

Three questions stand out as of importance and significance. The naval disarmament discussion, as one could have foretold, becomes a haggle for advantages. Each power seeks to disarm the other fellow. Great Britain detests the big raider submarine and wants none of it; it is America's only effective long-range weapon. A clamor comes to us from across the ocean from the French Senate for unlimited submarines. These will be to attack Great Britain; there can be no other possible use for them. Perhaps the French Senate does not really want war with Britain, but this is the way to get it.

Japan is asking for a 7 to 10 instead of a 6 to 10 basis for herself. And so on. So long as unsettled differences remain, disarmament discussions are bound to degenerate in this fashion. Settlements and sincere disarmament are inseparably interwoven. The French, however, have led in an important pronouncement, promising evacuations and renunciations in the Chinese area on the part of France, provided Britain and Japan follow suit.

Lord Riddle, on behalf of Britain, has followed suit; Britain is ready to relinquish everything, with the justifiable exception of Hong Kong, a purely British creation. And M. Briand has explained why France must have an enormous army to overawe Europe, but that still leaves certain possibilities of military restraint open for consideration. We are still discussing whether we may not hope to see conscription banished from the earth.

Seem Further From War in the Pacific.

When such things swim up through the boiling activities of the Washington vat, not merely as passing suggestions and happy ideas but embodied in more or less concrete proposals, we cannot fail, however jaded we may feel, from also feeling hopeful. The Conference has got only to its third session and we already seem further from war in the Pacific and nearer security there than at any time in the past two years.

And these intimations of success in this world discussion, of which Washington is the controlling nucleus, turn our minds naturally enough to the continuation and final outcome of this great initiative of President Harding's. The more fruitful the Conference seems likely to be in agreements and understandings, the more evident is the necessity for something permanent arising out of it, to hold and maintain, in spirit and in fact, this accumulation of agreements and understandings.

The Washington Conference, before it breaks up and disperses, must, in some way, lay an egg to reproduce itself. In some fashion it must presently return. Because we have had to bear in mind that in the final and conclusive sense of the word, the Conference can decide nothing. It has produced a fine and generous atmosphere about it; it will probably serve as an effectual temporary solution of a large group of problems, but the power of final decision rests with governments and legislatures far away.

The American proposals are only suggestive and they have no value as a treaty, unless they are accepted by the powers and until the American Senate has confirmed them by a two-thirds majority. M. Briand may have wished to be generous and broadminded here, but in Paris is this French Senate, inspired by a mad patriotism that would even now begin to arm France for an "inevitable" war with Britain.

The French Senate has made a warlike gesture directly at England, has set its feet in a path that can end only in a supreme disaster for both France and England, and it did so, one guesses, in order to remind M. Briand that if he dared to be reasonable, if he dared to be pacific, if he acted for Great France and mankind, instead of at the dictates of Nationalist France, he did so at his peril. He would have been accused of betraying his country. "Conspuez Briand," they would have cried in their pretty way. So M. Briand has played the patriot's role.

Reason and Patriotism in Fierce Struggle.

In Tokio and in London, it is an open secret that the same conflict goes on; the cables are busy with the struggle between reason and fierce patriotism . . . . Every concession made by every country at Washington will go back to the home land to be challenged as "weakness," as "want of patriotism," as "Treason."

In America and Britain the ugly side of this business has still to come, the outbreak of the patriotic fanatics, of the disappointed politicians who wanted to come here, of the wrecker journalists, the dealers in suspicion, the evil minds of a thousand types. And the lassitude that follows great expectations has also to be reckoned with. What Washington decides will not be the ultimate outcome; what the world will get at last in treaties ratified and things accomplished will be the mangled and tangled remains of the Washington decisions.

For that reason, it is imperative that the Washington conference should meet again. Its work is not done until its decisions are realized. After it has sent over its reports to the governments and parliaments, it will adjourn, but it must not cease.

With perhaps rather fuller powers, with perhaps a wider or a different representation of the world, it must come again to a renewed invitation, to restore once more that atmosphere of international good will that has been created here, and to go over the attempts to realize, or the failures to realize, the settlement it has already worked out. And there will be many questions ripening then for solution that it cannot deal with now.

Most of the Work Still to Be Done

Much remains to be done by the Washington Conference, most of its work indeed is still to be done, but enough has been demonstrated already here to convince any reasonable man that a new thing, a new instrument, a new organ, has come into human affairs, and that it is a thing that the world needs and cannot do without again.

This thing has to recur, has to grow. It has to become a recurrent world conference. And this being clear, it is time that public discussion and public opinion direct itself to the problem of the renewal of the Conference in order that before it disperses we may be assured that it will meet again. As a temporary, transitory thing, it will presently fade out of men's memories and imaginations, but as a thing going on and living, which has gone, but which, like the King in circuit, will come again to try the new issues that have arisen and to try again the experiments that have fallen short of expectation, it may become the symbol and rallying point of all that vast amount of sane, humanitarian feeling and all that devotion to mankind as a whole, and to peace and justice, that has hitherto been formless and ineffectual in the world, for the need of such a banner.

machines blessing them with TNT from above?

Let citizens of the United States read carefully the last paragraph of the Root resolutions on China adopted by the Far East committee settling China's affairs in Washington, not Peking.

Other nations agree "to refrain from taking advantage of present conditions," civil war, etc., in China, "to seek special privileges which WOULD ABRIDGE THE RIGHTS OF THE SUBJECTS OR CITIZENS OF FRIENDLY STATES."

Nations are not forbidding each other to eat China. They are agreeing not "to abridge" each other's share of the booty.

A sad sight you may see in France, where leeches are fattened for the market. An old horse, too feeble for work, is driven into the water, where bloodsuckers are bred. They fasten upon the helpless animal to grow swollen and fat as his blood diminishes and he sinks down gradually to death.

China is such an old horse, fattening the commerce of the nations, which, like so many bloodsuckers, say in substance, "Give us an equal chance at the old horse."

Every American feeling sorry for China, should decide to keep the bloodsuckers away from this country, which is NOT an old horse, can manage itself, needs neither help nor advice.

PELLETIER WILL APPEAL TO U. S. HIGH COURT

Declares Action to Remove Him From Office Is Aaginst Constitution to the court and said he was ready to go on with the case this afternoon.

WILL ASSIGN CASE.

Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg conferred with Justice Braley, on his left, and Justice DeCourcy, on his right, and announced that the court could not try the case today.

He added that he would assign a date for trial as soon as an answer to Allen's charges were filed. Pelletier indicated that this would be immediately.

Counsel for the State and for Pelletier both agreed today that the evidence in the case of the new charges would not be hard to get. The general atmosphere was that the new case would be tried before the original charges of malfeasance.

Pelletier's declaration that the attempt to remove him was unconstitutional was not a surprise, but his charge that it was contrary to both State and Federal Constitutions was. Important excerpts from his petition for a "writ of prohibition" were as follows:

ONLY BY GENERAL COURT.

"The Constitution of this Commonwealth provides for the impeachment of officers of the Commonwealth, by the House of Representatives and the hearing and determination of such impeachments by the Senate as a court, and the removal from office by the Senate of officers so impeached; and no other way of removing officers of the Commonwealth from office during their terms is provided by the Constitution of the Commonwealth; and the provision that impeachments shall be brought by the House of Representatives, and heard and determined by the Senate and officers of the Commonwealth removed by the Senate is the law of the land.

"Section 4 of Chapter 211 of the eneral Laws is unconstitutional and null and void so far as it relates to the removal of a district attorney if the respondents purpose to act as a court.

"The law under which said information is brought is a law which abridges the privileges of the petitioner to hold the office to which he has been duly elected and receiva the emoluments thereof during the term for which he has been electd and so is unconstitutional and void undr the Fourteenth Article of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

CANNOT BE DEPRIVED.

"As an officer of the Commonwealth the petitioner is entitled to the equal protection of the laws as to his right to hold his said office and cannot be deprived of said right by any apparent process of law which is not equally applicable to all other officers of the Commonwealth described in the constitution for such removal of all officers of the Commonwealth and this protection is guaranteed the petitioner (Pelletier) by the Fourteenth Article of the Articles of Amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America."

Which was accepted today as an indication that Pelletier would not rest with the decision of the Supreme Court, but would, if removed, carry his fight to the highest courts of the United States.

Arms Parley Marks Crisis in Europe, Says Historian

The United States asks the world to reply "yes" or "no" to this query:

"Do you desire peace.

Nobody has dared and nobody will dare to answer "no" openly, but this does not mean that by this almost universal affirmative the terrible knot will be severed or unravelled.

Moment Is Decisive.

Hence it is needful that the public opinion of all countries be attentive and on its guard. Each people must watch its own government and endeavor to see clearly concerning the questions that will successively be discussed at the conference, grasp the arguments that will be brought forward, and defend the different theses as they arise.

The moment is critical, perchance decisive. Who could foretell the consequences or repercussions of a second delusion, following that of Paris?

In Europe, at least, the great danger consists in the desperation that grips the public mind. The peoples have almost lost hope that such a truce is possible.

If the great attempt at Washington should fail, this desperation will become irremediable. Hates and suspicions existing among the former allies, already so great, will be inflamed more acutely than ever.

Nothing could induce wars more than the failure of this attempt at pacification.

The Washington congress cannot solve all the questions which are rendering great states inimical to and suspicious of each other. It would be foolish to expect so much. But it will at least have achieved something not less than a miracle if it manages to settle some of these questions, because it will have shown by deeds that to settle them is not impossible.

What comfort this will instill into the spirit of the whole world, today so rudderless, terrorized by the menace of an outburst of violence over the globe.

NEW GAS COULD DESTROY PARIS, SAYS EDISON

Germans Might Fly to French Capital and Spread Ruin in Five Minutes

By ALLAN L. BENSON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Copyright, 1921, by International News Service

Orange, N. J., Nov. 23.—Thomas A. Edison is of the opinion that the next war will be a good thing to keep out of. He spoke of the great progress that has been made since hostilities in Europe ceased in the manufacture of poison gas.

It would only be a question of time, he said, until the Germans would learn of these discoveries and, if they should care to do so, they could fly over to Paris and in five minutes kill everybody with gas without breaking a window pane.

BATTLE IN THE AIR.

"Could you kill everybody in a great city, in five minutes?" I asked.

"I think I could," he replied. "I could, at any rate, after I made a few more experiments.

"Future wars," he continues, "are going to be waged almost exclusively with airplanes, submarines and gas. Battleships will not count for much. Guns are very spectacular instruments for killing. They make a great noise and explosive shells blow great holes in the earth—but guns do not carry destruction over a broad area.

"A bursting shell kills only those who are within a few feet of it. A single charge of such gas as chemists now know how to make is sufficiently deadly to kill every man, woman and child in an area equivalent to five or six blocks.

"That is why I say it would not be difficult to send a flock of airplanes over a city and kill every inhabitant within five minutes without breaking a pane of glass. All that is necessary is to make a gas that is very poisonous and very heavy. Heavy gas settles on the earth so that no one in the vicinity can escape it."

HOLDS OLD SECRET.

At this point, I recalled a remark that I heard attributed to Mr. Edison ten years ago, to the effect that if the United States ever got into a tight pinch he would put the government in possession of a destructive agency so terrible that nothing short of impending national disaster could cause him to disclose it.

I asked him if he had been correctly quoted. He replied in the affirmative. I asked him if the weapon he had in mind was gas. The only answer I received was a broad smile and gesture that indicated that the subject was one on which he could not say a word.

Unable to Join Their Mother After Long Ocean Voyage

LUCKLESS IMMIGRANTS

TWINS BARRED FROM ENTRY INTO U. S.

New Bedford, Nov. 23.—The nine passengers who arrived here Sunday on the rum-running Cape Verde packet schooner Romance are being held here for deportation as the Portuguese quota for 1921 is already complete.

Among the luckless immigrants are John and Benjamin Sylvia, nine-year-old twin brothers, who came here alone to join their mother, Mrs. Sylvian Fontes of this city.

When the packet was warped up alongside the State Pier the bright little fellows, clad in thin calico overalls, short socks and sneakers, stood shivering on the deck, the objects of much concern on the spart of the immigration officials.

SALVATIONISTS TO FEED 1,000 CHILDREN

Mayor Peters to Attend Army's Thanksgiving Dinner to Poor in Ford Hall

Final arrangements have been made by the Salvation Army for the greatest Thanksgiving dinner for the poor children yet given in the history of the Army in Boston. Plans are completed to serve 1,000 youngsters at Ford Hall at 12 o'clock tomorrow. Besides, there will be 150 baskets, containing food for five persons each, distributed tomorrow morning to the home of destitute families. A number of appeals have been specially cared for. A total of approximately two thousand unfortunates will participate in the good cheer afforded by the Salvationists.

Mayor Peters has written Colonel W. A. McIntyre that he will attend the dinner. A number of other prominent citizens have expressed their intention to be present, among them several of the chairmen of the recent Home Service Fund campaign. "Griss the Babble King," from the Majestic Theatre, has volunteered to entertain the children with jokes and comic antics. Other entertainers are being obtained. Colonel McIntyre will preside. Provincial Headquarters band of thirty-five pieces will enliven the banquet with music.

A lady on Beacon street called at Headquarters and asked to entertain "three of the very poorest children in Boston." She stated that her husband would call for them in his car and take them safely home. Mrs. Colonel McIntyre has already selected the three little ones who are to enjoy the "wonderful Thanksgiving."

KORNFELD EMPLOYES TO DANCE ON FRIDAY

The Felix Kornfeld Company's employes will hold their eleventh annual entertainment and dance on Friday evening, at the Strand Ballroom, Huntington avenue. The committee in charge comprises Miss Frances Berns, chairman, and Miss Edith Devenor of the Summer street store and Mrs. Anna Silver of the Temple place store. This year's event is the initial one for the new Temple place store, and an even greater success is hoped for.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Harvest Ball to Attract Fashionable Set This Evening

By BETTY ALDEN.

FEMININE members of the younger coterie are planning to don their most entrancing frocks for the harvest ball which takes place at the Copley-Plaza this evening. The ball, which marks the culmination of the three-day bazar and harvest festival given under the auspices of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters is under the generalship of two very capable matrons, Mrs. George Richmond Fearing and Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs.

Though naturally the various terpsichorean affairs at which the smart set assemble throughout the season are attended chiefly by the "debutante-undergrad" contingent, there is always a goodly number of paters and maters in attendance. The latter come, not only as patronesses and chaperones, but as partakers in the fun as well, and not a few of the debbies must look to their laurels as "belles of the ball."

Mrs. Fearing and Mrs. Hobbs have selected a list of patronesses whose names are well able to defy any challenge in the way of eclat. Among the matrons who have lent their distinguished cognomens to this evening's ball are: Mesdames Stephen V. R. Crosby, Francis B. Crowninshield, Charles K. Cummings, Charles P. Curtis, Thomas P. Curtis, George M. Cushing, George S. Derby, Eben S. Draper, Edward H. James, Gardiner M. Lane, William S. H. Lothrop, Ronald T. Lyman, Everett Morss, Frederick S. Moseley, Hallam L. Movius, Robert Treat Paine, Robert Treat Paine, 2d., James A. Parker, Benjamin F. Pitman, Charles B. Prince, William B. Rogers, Arthur G. Rotch, Charles T. Russell, John L. Saltonstall, Sullivan A. Sargent, Hugh D. Scott, Walter Channing, Jr., Frederick J. Cotton, Alvah Crocker, Philip Dexter, William A. Dupee, Marshall Fabyan and Richard D. Sears. Many of the latter have taken boxes for the occasion, as well as Mesdames George R. Fearing, Sr., Charles Sumner Bird, F. Murray Forbes, William A. Gaston, Galen Stone, Robert Gould Shaw, 2d., J. Malcolm Forbes, William Whitman, Hugh Bancroft and Thorndike Howe.

Dancing will be from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock in the morning, with Lowe's Orchestra and the Marimba Band furnishing the music.

The Colonial Theatre harbored not a few of Boston's fashionables at the huge benefit performance which was given there yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Community Service in aid of disabled ex-service men.

The matrons were present, many of them as gracious hostesses to the more seriously-wounded veterans, while the debutantes, as well as a group of sub-debs, acted as ushers and flower-girls. All of which, of course, lent a thoroughly democratic air to the event.

The audience seemed well satisfied with the performance, at which the following stars appeared: John Charles Thomas, Otis Skinner, Holbrook Blinn, Florence Reed, Jack Donahue, Fairbank Twins, the Astaires, Fred Hillebrand, Charles Judels, Vanda Hoff, A. Barbour Hilliday, Shey Camp, Evelyn Law, Jack Squire, Garrett Carroll, Emma Janvier, Yra Jeane, Tomson Twins, George Mack, Dorothy Harrison and the entire ensemble of "Two Little Girls in Blue."

The announcement that Alexander Perry Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Spencer Morgan, has definitely decided to join the ranks of the benedicts is of interest not alone to the social lights of Gotham, due to the international fame of the name of Morgan. Young Morgan has selected as his future life helpmate Miss Janet Croll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smyth Croll of Flushing, L. I. At present the youthful scion of the Morgan clan, whose parents reside for a part of the year at their estate, "Constitution Hill," in Princeton, N. J., is enrolled as a senior at the "Tiger" college, so that his wedding to Miss Croll is not expected to take place until early Summer.

Boston may lay claim to a special interest in this betrothal announcement, for Junius Spencer Morgan, Jr., a cousin of the groom-to-be, several years ago took as his bride Louise Converse, daughter of the Frederick Converses of "The Crossways," Westwood, Mass., and sister of Virginia Converse. Junius Spencer Morgan, Jr., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan (Jane Grew), the latter a member of the well-known Boston family of that name. The former Jane Grew, by the way, still retains her membership in the Chilton Club here, so that the smart set in the Hub never lacks a pardonable interest in the comings and goings of the Morgan clan.

Before entering Princeton, young Alexander Morgan prepared at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H. He is a grandson of the late Mrs. George Hale Morgan, who was a younger sister of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. His many relatives in New York and London include J. Pierpont Morgan, Anne Morgan, whose work for devastated France is known of everywhere, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton and Viscountess Harcourt, who is at present in New York.

MISS MARY CABOT

Miss Mary M. Cabot, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks Cabot of Marlboro street, is one of the society girls who have helped at the three-day bazaar given at the Copley-Plaza by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. Miss Cabot was introduced early in the month at a dance given for her by her parents.

Random Notes of Society Folk In Town and Country

MRS. GARDINER M. LANE of Marlboro street, and her daughter, Miss Katherine Lane, will go to Baltimore to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Lane's parents, Professor and Mrs. Basil Gildersleeve.

Mrs. Charles Watson Allen of Marlboro street is at present in New York, where she is stopping at the Hotel Lorraine.

Miss Etheldred Satterlee, the debutante daughter of Mrs. Churchill Satterlee of The Fenway, has been in New York for a visit. Miss Satterlee was present at the dance which Mrs. Norton Goddard recently gave at the Colony Club in New York for her two daughters, the Misses Celestine and Cynthia Goddard.

Among the debutate functions planned for the younger set is the luncheon which Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Fletcher of Brookline are giving for their daughter, Miss Nina Fletcher, on the last day of the month in the Fletcher home on Philbrick road. Miss Fletcher recently returned from a trip abroad with her mother.

Mrs. Guy Waring, whose Boston home is at Hotel Victoria, is just now in Washington, where she is staying at the Hotel Powhatan.

Heart's Desire

A bar-pin or a link bracelet may be heart's desire to someone to whom a ring would be only another ring. Yet it is almost as easy to give the heart's desire as the casual gift. A little study of the person's taste and present possessions is the only requisite.

The girl who wears long sleeves prefers earrings to bracelets. The woman who has beautiful fingers likes unusual rings. The man who smokes a pipe would never consider a Dunhill pipe one too many.

Within our store are many beautiful things. Among them we believe are the hearts' desires of those friends for whom you are seeking Christmas gifts. Don't decide upon your Christmas gifts without visiting our store for suggestions. We shall be glad to guide your selections if you wish, or you may look about in undisturbed leisure.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT
For Friday and Saturday
Nov. 25 and 26

For many years the two days following Thanksgiving have been days of great importance in the selling events of Chandler & Co., especially in the departments of dresses, suits, furs, coats, sweaters, skirts, waists, millinery, underwear, corsets, negligees, gloves, stockings, handkerchiefs, robes, silks, Oriental rugs, upholstery and linens.

FURTHERMORE—

This Annual After Thanksgiving Sale will probably be one of the most important of all these successful events, due not only to the fact that Chandler & Co. have had a tremendous fall business, but because their stocks have been in condition to allow them to buy the finest assortments of goods at the low prices of a falling market. Naturally, after heavy selling, there will be an accumulation of odd lots of very desirable merchandise to be offered, some of them originally marked at low prices and further reduced for this great annual event. In addition to these markdowns from their stock, many desirable lots that Chandler & Co. have been able to purchase in the last few days will be included in this sale, at exceedingly low prices.

We ordinarily send out about 65,000 circulars through the mail announcing this sale, but this year it was impossible, due to the fact that so much of the merchandise has come in at the last minute.

WOMEN TO GIVE DOG SHOW TO AID XMAS BASKET FUND

An all-breed dog show in aid of the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund, to provide free dinners for needy families, will be conducted in Paine Memorial Hall, Monday evening, December 5, under the auspices of the Women's Charity Dog Club.

This is the third successive year that the organizers of this club have given a show and turned the net proceeds over to the American's Christmas Fund for the purpose of feeding hungry children.

The club is now a permanent organization. The organizers are Mrs. W. F. Kinder of South Boston, proprietor of the Y. D. kennels, and Mrs. F. A. Dallen, owner of the Dallen's kennels.

The officers of the club are Mrs. Dallen, president; Mrs. Kinder, vice-president; Mrs. E. B. West, proprietor of Artcraft Star kennels; Mrs. Walter Greene, owner of White Pepper kennels, treasurer; Mrs. Louis Litchenheim, proprietor of Fairlawn kennels; Mrs. Genevieve Jones and Mrs. Tellis, executive board.

HAS OFFICIAL SANCTION.

Next month's show has been sanctioned by the American Kennel Club, and it is expected it will draw lovers of fine dogs from all parts of New England as spectators. It is believed a large number of pedigreed animals will be shown at this event.

Both organizers of the club are widely known among dog lovers throughout the country. Mrs. Dallen is the only woman who ever judged a show of the Boston Terrier Specialty Club in this city. She has the honor of having judged this show on three different occasions, being the only person who ever judged it more than once.

Last year she crossed the continent to judge the California Specialty Show. She was the only woman to whom that honor was ever accorded.

In addition to being a dog fancier of high repute, Mrs. Kinder is well known in philanthropic and charitable circles. Through her efforts last year many persons in the South Boston district, who would have been without food at Christmas, were well fed on that holiday. She rescued a woman and her four young children from direst destitution. The mother and kiddies were in bed to keep warm when Mrs. Kinder went to the tenement and discovered their plight. The woman's husband had deserted the little family.

AIDS NEEDY FAMILY.

Mrs. Kinder soon dissipated the fear of the mother that the children would be taken away from her. Then, going to the nearest store, she purchased coal, wood and groceries for the destitute family. Later she obtained a position for the mother. Through the helping hand of Mrs. Kinder the woman is now self-supporting and is taking good care of her little children. It will not be necessary for the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund to send a parcel of food to the family this year. The woman who was aided says she does not need it this year, and has asked that it shall go to another family.

Many children continue to aid the fund. One of those who is helping is four-year-old Shirley Macdonald of Warren street, Allston, whose grandmother is planning a party, at which the child will be hostess.

CHILDREN TO ENTERTAIN.

Among those who will participate in the Christmas fantasy at the Copley-Plaza Hotel charity ball, Monday evening, December 19, under the auspices of Amelia Burnham Studio of Dancing, are the following: Grace Curley, Frances Haskell, Jane Gaddins, Dorothy Smith, Virginia Truman, Rosalynd Gitlin, Doris Holsberg, Betty Jacobs, Shirley Friedlander, Irene Slobodkin, Mirian Walker, Martha Poole, Dorothy Lakson, Selma Myers, Stella Baron, Eveline Goldstein, Zelma Buschner, Bernice Simonds, Ruth Nodell, Charlotte Orlov, Priscilla Gallen, Eleanor Davis, Eleanor Curley, Evelyn Roberts, Dorothy Ranny, Lillian Wood, Anna Goodsell, Frances Ridford, Lillian Sargent, Edith Golden, Eleanor West, Muriel Sidel, Dorothy Hughes, Alice Burgdoll, Shirley Bornstein, Helene McCallum, Frances Lurraine, Muriel Weiss, Sylvia Belin, Irene Simonds, Marjorie Frank, Ruth Kent, Dorothy McCarron, Marion Levine, Saribelle Kaufman, Edith Friedlander, Estelle Cohen, Sylvia Steiner, Rosalynd Levy, Helen Walker, Anna Deleo, Cecile White, Beatrice Kaplan, Barbara Solomont, Barbara Frank, Viola Silverstein, Sylvia Chernoff, Norma Glasberg, Pauline Beerman, Ruth Pinkerton, Edna Hibel, Esther Hart, Helene Isenberg, Sylvia Flynn, Barbara Wilinsky, Ruth Levine, Baby Warren, Marjorie Mintz, Erma Goldman, Selma Green, Barbara Lasky, Berther Gordon, Elizabeth Rayner and R. A. Warren.

Among those who are helping to make the ball a success are: Edna Stertz, Shirley Ruby, Ruth Walker, Alice Hollins, Irene Slobodkin, Sylvia Flynn, Eleanor Davis, Alice Rey, Josephine Dolan, Doris Cox, Robert Grant, Elizabeth Besarick, Dorothy M. EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. —Advertisement.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.—Advertisement.

TWO BASKETBALL STARS FEATURE IN ROMANCE

Noted Boston Player Will Wed Lynn Girl Whom He Met on Courts

A romance of the basketball courts will reach its appropriate climax in the Catholic Church of Danvers tomorrow when Miss Ida Mary Blanchette of Lynn becomes the bride of Rene Henry Cyr of the Army Base, South Boston.

Miss IDA M. BLANCHETTE

Cyr is rated one of the best basketball players hereabouts, and excels in other athletics. Miss Blanchette is also a good basketball player and has starred on girls' fives in various parts of Greater Boston. They met on the courts.

Both are devotees of the game and plan to keep up their interest in it after marriage.

Cyr came here a few years ago from Maine. He is a graduate of St. Mary's College. Mr. and Mrs. Cyr will live in Danvers.

K. C. BALL TEAM TO APPEAR AS THESPIANS

After having had a very successful season on the diamond, members of the North Cambridge Council, Knights of Columbus, base ball team, will make their bow before the footlights tonight in Odd Fellows' Hall, North Cambridge.

CAROLINE BRINE

The council's annual theatrical offering, "Behind the Scenes," a two-act musical comedy, will be presented under the direction of Miss Maude Scott. Scores of pretty girls will assist, and will be seen in many novel dances.

Miss Caroline Brine will give a number of special dances, and the Finn twins, juvenile acrobatic dancers, will also contribute specialties.

The show will also be given Thanksgiving afternoon and evening, and will be followed by dancing. Joseph F. O'Connell is chairman of the show committee.

BIG JEWISH BALL IN SYMPHONY HALL TONIGHT

Governor Cox, Mayor Peters and some of the most prominent Hebrews from all parts of Boston and Massachusetts are expected to attend Boston's Jewish social event of the season, the charity ball to be held at Symphony Hall, this evening. The proceeds will be used to wipe out the deficit of $20,000 in existence since 1917, which has been hampering the work of the Beth Israel Hospital. The entertainment will begin with a concert from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m.

JUSTICE PIERCE TO GO UNDER KNIFE DEC. 5

Supreme Court Judge Will Be Operated Upon for Gallstones

Justice Edward P. Pierce of the Supreme Court will undergo a serious surgical operation at the Brooks Hospital on December 5.

Announcement was made by Dr. Daniel Fiske Jones of No. 195 Beacon street, who will perform the operation. It was given out by Dr. Jones at the solicitation of friends of Justice Pierce in order to refute reports in circulation to the effect that the judge's illness was not as serious as had been stated.

Yesterday a petition asking the removal of Justice Pierce from office was filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives, and on November 15 he was secretly indicted by the Suffolk County Grand Jury with "conspiracy to obstruct the administration of justice."

Since the indictment Justice Pierce has been unable to leave his bed. He is suffering with gallstones, according to Dr. Jones.

GLEE CLUB AT WELLESLEY TO GIVE CONCERT

Miss Anita Merry Wheeler, of Tacoma, Wash., class of 1922 at Wellesley, will lead the Wellesley Glee Club in its joint concert with the Tech Show Orchestra at Wellesley tonight.

Dancing will follow the concert. Included in the program are "The Morning Wind," by Gena Branscombe; "O Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast," by H. C. MacDougall; "Mon Petit Brave Soldat," by A. E. Richards, and "Indian Cradle Song," by H. Alexander Matthews.

Caroline Ewe, '22, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Ethel Halsey, '22, of New Orleans, La., will sing the duet parts.

IRISH RELIEF COMMENDS RED CROSS DRIVE

Recalls Gift of $100,000 Last Spring; Roll Call Ends Tomorrow

Hearty commendation for the work of the American Red Cross, together with a message extending the wish that the present roll-call may be successful, have been received by Red Cross heads from Morgan J. O'Brien of New York, chairman of the American Committee for Relief in Ireland, to which the Red Cross last Spring contributed $100,000.

Mr. O'Brien's message follows:

"The co-operation and contributions of the Red Cross in the drive conducted last Spring under the auspices of the American Committee for Relief in Ireland were substantial and most helpful, and now that you are engaged in your own drive we desire to extend to you our best wishes for its success and to thank you for the part which you took in our effort to relieve suffering in Ireland."

Subscriptions received by the Boston Metropolitan Chapter Tuesday carried the total to $54,243. Among the large gifts for the day were:

Mrs. Geo. E. Warren, $250; Miss Mabel Lyman, $500; Mrs. J. F. Tyler, $100; Maud E. Appleton, $100; Charlotte Pierce, $50; Mrs. R. S. Russell, $50; Hannah M. Edwards, $50; Robert S. Bradley, $100; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Morss, $50; Miss Fannie M. Faulkner, $50; Mrs. Katherine Fay, $50; Mr. Thatcher Loring, $100; Shepard Brooks, $300; Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman, $100.

The Rollcall ends tomorrow. Solicitation will be discontinued tonight and the booths in the hotels and railroad stations will be removed.

With less than a fifth of the amount raised to meet the cost of maintaining the work of the chapter for the present year, the reliance will be upon large donations and the smaller ones which will be sent to headquarters at No. 142 Berkeley street. There is no closed season on contributions or memberships.

HUB GIRLS HELD AFTER JOY RIDE TO PROVIDENCE

Mother of One Rushes to Her Defence; Other Parent Refuses to Aid

"She got into this trouble herself and I am not going to help her get out of it."

"I believe my daughter is blameless and am going to do all I can to defend her spotless reputation."

These contrary statements came from Mrs. Arsam Souliver of No. 39 Birch street, and Mrs. E. R. Gibson, of No. 5204 Washington street, both of West Roxbury whose daughters were arrested in Providence, after telling the police they ran away from their homes with two men in an automobile and took part in an all-night party at a Providence lodging house.

REVOLVER FOUND.

The girls are Florence Gibson, 15 years old, and Nora Souliver, 17 years old, both unusually attractive.

Miss Souliver was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, police reporting that she had a revolver in her pocket, when arrested. The Gibson girl will probably be held for the Juvenile court.

Meantime, the police are combing the city to find two men, declared by the young girls to have taken them to Providence, after a chance acquaintance, and then to a room in a lodging house.

Police became suspicious of the girls when they saw them loitering on Exchange place in Providence. Patrolman Sheehan questioned them and when they failed to return satisfactory answers, he took them to police headquarters.

FAILED TO HEED.

There the girls confessed their story to the police. They are reported to have said they left Boston two days ago, when the two young men asked them to go for an automobile ride.

Mrs. Souliver was highly incensed when the report her daughter had been found in Providence reached her.

"I warned her, but she would not listen," said the mother. "I will not go to Providence, nor will any of my family go to her aid. She got into this mess herself and now she will have to get out of it."

Tears of anger rolled down the mother's face as she received the news of her daughter's escapade. She cried as she said her daughter had brought disgrace to her family.

WORE UNIFORM.

"It was nothing new for my daughter to wear a uniform," continued Mrs. Souliver. "She seemed to have a passion for her brother's war suit. She used it motorcycling and often went out with men whom I did not know.

"She has stayed away before, a night or two at a time, and when she failed to return last night what could I do? My daughter is not a bad girl; she is just full of mischief."

But Mrs. Gibson defended her daughter's reputation and blamed Nora Souliver, declaring the older girl enticed her child to leave her home and family. She said her daughter had never been away from home before and said she would leave today for Providence to help untangle her daughter's difficulties.

CHOKES YOUNG WIFE TO DEATH FOR SAVINGS

Chicago Man Confesses Killing and Robbing Woman About to Become Mother

By International News Service

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Thomas Catherwood confessed today, according to the police of the Fillmore street station, that he had murdered his sister-in-law, Mrs. Betty Sharples, 21 years old, and her unborn babe for $50, the small sum she had hoarded to buy baby clothes and Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Sharples was strangled to death in her home yesterday after she had prepared breakfast for Catherwood and while she was sewing tiny garments for the baby she expected soon.

Her body was found last night, when her husband, Charles H. Sharples, returned from work.

LAWYER JILTED BY GIRL FOR LIFE GUARD

Worcester Debutante Elopes With Youth She Met in Bathing at Lake

Worcester, Nov. 23.—Joseph C. Miron, life guard at Webster Lake, won out over a Hartford attorney rival for the affections of Miss Pauline McGady, daughter of Mrs. Michael E. McGady of No. 80 Salisbury street, Worcester.

Miron and Miss McGady were secretly married in Connecticut last week, according to word just received here. The young couple are now honeymooning in New York.

Mrs. McGady stated that the announcement of the wedding was a shock to her, especially as Pauline had been engaged to an attorney in Hartford. "I did not know that she had broken her engagement with the Hartford man," she said. "I am sorry it has happened so."

Miss McGady is a prominent debutante in Worcester society. Her late father was formerly proprietor of the Vernon Hotel. She attended St. Mary's College, Indiana.

It is understood that her romance with Miron started during the bathing season at Webster Lake. Miron served with the navy aviation corps in the war and is now a special police officer in Webster. He was educated in the Webster public schools and attended Cornell and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His father, the late Joseph C. Miron, was widely known as a comic opera star.

WALTHAM FIRE INVESTIGATED BY POLICE

Entire Block Threatened by Blaze in Desmond Dry Goods Store

The State police were today investigating a fire of undetermined origin that swept through the store of the Desmond Dry Goods Company in the Higgins block on Moody street, Waltham, which caused damage estimated at $6,000, and for a time threatened the entire block.

The first floor of the building is occupied by stores. The remainder of the block is devoted to offices.

The blaze was discovered in the rear of the Desmond store shortly after Manager H. A. Fienstein had closed the store. The entire store was ablaze when the firemen arrived.

The plant of the Parker Bakery Company, which occupied part of the Desmond Company space, and a shoe shop adjoining operated by David Rosenberg, were damaged by smoke and water. The building was owned by Grover J. Cronin.

MARRIAGE BONDS LAX, WARNS FR. CORRIGAN

Says Holy State Is Depreciated by Society, Literature and Education of Today

Declaring that "there ought to be a great moral campaign against the exaggerated regard for personal comfort and social advancement which is bringing about a depreciation of marriage," Rev. James I. J. Corrigan, professor of social ethics at Boston College, speaking to the League of Catholic Women assigned "wrong ideals in women's education, married women in industry, and the secularization of marriage as the 'complication of diseases' which is threatening American home life."

Father Corrigan's subject was "The Plot Against Marriage," and in opening he related the symptoms that point to a depreciation of marriage in our day.

DISEASE OF DIVORCE.

"The stability and happiness of a nation," he said, "are based on the stability and happiness of its homes, and these again rest on the sure foundation of the inviolability and sanctity of the marriage vow.

"But in America today, both the inviolability and sanctity of marriage are threatened. While its sacred character is being undermined by the false conception and worldly ideals, its stability is directly attacked by the moral cancer of divorce. The latter disease is rapidly becoming malignant and epidemic.

"The depreciated view of marriage is reflected in the literature and drama of the day. The most frequent theme of the modern play and novel is married life. And so it always was. But whereas in former days, the drama and novels ended with marriage and happiness, now they more often commence with marriage and misery, and frequently end with divorce and adultery.

"The heroine of the plot is usually a married woman, and when she is unmarried, she is generally in love with a married man. As the plot thickens, domestic trouble grows.

MARRIAGE AS A JOKE.

"In a word, literature and the drama persistently represent married life in the guise of either sordidly dismal or luridly tragic story.

"Stories of unhappy married life are of common and constant occurrence. Marriage is the butt of every low joke. The sanctity of marriage and the sacredness of its obligations are fast disappearing from the moral

"Some educationalists desire that men and women should be trained along the same lines. Their idea is to obliterate the distinctions as far as possible, throw the youth of both sexes together, give them the same intellectual discipline, and teach the women to think men's thoughts and do men's work.

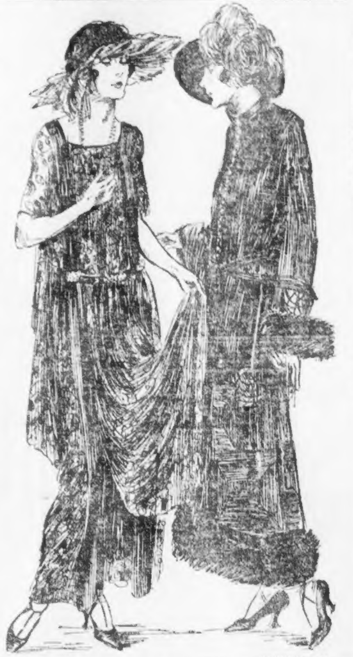
"Of the moral dangers of this type of co-education, I do not speak. Accounts from such institutions speak for themselves. But the 'mannishly trained' woman is a human monstrosity, utterly unfitted to be the 'queen of the home' and the mother of children."

FOUND GUILTY OF ATTACK ON WOMAN

Salem, Nov. 22.—In the District Court, before Judge Harry E. Jackson, Leon Dudelskin, of No. 11 Hardy street, Salem, charged with attack with intent to kill Mrs. Frances Lacferuchia of No. 77 Derby street, was found guilty and given a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction. He was fined $100 for carrying a dangerous weapon, with which, it was alleged, he did the shooting.

—Fresh From Paris—

Latest Word From Marie Suzanne



PARIS, France.

LUCILE has designed two ravishing gowns for the more elaborate moments of a Parisienne's afternoon, and both of these recognize the importance of black. At the left black satin is the foundation for full panels of black net, embroidered in a rose pattern. Strips of the satin, starting at the tops of the shoulders at each side of the gown, both front and back, are caught beneath a narrow girdle of satin, silver buckled, and then fall below the skirt edge. The silhouette and general draped effect of this model link it with the very newest mode.

TO a slim, straight frock of black taffeta, braided and embroidered in dull gold, are added bands of kolinsky to form unique cuffs and to band the smartly long skirt. The top of the bodice, including both collar and shoulder arrangement, is most unusual. A strip of the black taffeta, faced with dull gold, having depending loops and ends, defines the waist line.

TWO black velvet hats, one having a full tulle brim, the other mounted with metallized ostrich plumes, are of the sort one sees worn by the smart French woman for formal afternoon occasions.

YANKEE PEERESS LAUDS HEARST POLICY

Gladys Deacon Agrees With Stand Taken on Disarmament Conference

By Universal Service.

London, Nov. 23.—"Those are exactly my own sentiments. I wish to congratulate the land of my birth for having at least one unafraid champion of the nation's best interests in Mr. Hearst."

Thus declared the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Gladys Deacon of Boston, when told that the Hearst papers had likened the disarmament proposals to the fable of the foxes without tails trying to persuade the only fox with a tail to voluntarily chop it off.

LIKE A WILSON "POINT."

After this burst of sentiment, the Duchess gave the following exclusive statement to Universal Service:

"One is ashamed to greet it in any but a joyful, clamorous way—and yet!

"At Washington the world is gathered to decide who shall and who shall not penetrate into the Far East; who will and who will not sit at the only table left at which Europe and America hope to feed.

"Will thirty ships scrapped in one place and eighteen in another make rivalry less fierce, or the demands less vociferous?

DOVE FARTHER OFF.

"The only positive point is that more men will be thrown out of employment—the only gleam of hope is for a slight relief in taxation and this last will prove illusory—it usually does.

"Peace, the dove, seems to me to be farther off than ever these days, with an industrial and agricultural collapse actually grinding us all down. The dove is not likely to descend upon the waters which will close over the sacrifices of these scrapped ships."

BOY THEFT SUSPECT RETURNS TO CUBA

Greenfield, Nov. 23.—Eleazar Togores, the young Mt. Hermon student, who was arrested and brought into the district court a short time ago, charged with larceny, left here for his home in Cuba. His father had cabled money with which to make restitution for the articles which it is alleged his son stole from the rooms of students at the school. Judge Henry J. Field, in district court, filed the case away. Since the time of his arrest the Cuban youth had spent his time in the county jail here, being unable to secure bail.

JESUIT COLLEGE TO BE OPENED AT WESTON

Philosophy Students Will Take Up Studies There About First of Year

The Society of Jesus has purchased the Grant Walker estate in Weston and will open a new Jesuit Scholasticate there about Christmas time. The land embraces 125 acres, and is an ideal location for the House of Studies. Three buildings are ready for occupancy, and a new brick building will be erected shortly.

The buildings will be known as Weston College, for the present use of first year philosophy students who are now studying at Woodstock College, Woodstock, Md. In time, additional buildings will be added to the group, and eventually, the college will become similar to the Jesuit College at Woodstock.

The Very Rev. Patrick J. O'Gorman, former president of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, and now vice-provincial of the Eastern Jesuit Province, will become rector of Weston College on its opening.

The buildings at Weston will be open for inspection on Sunday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5. Members of the Philomatheia Club of Boston College will act as hostesses.

Three meals a day—yet thousands are underfed

Are you getting the full benefit from the food you eat?

SCIENCE has made a discovery of far-reaching importance to every human being. We know now that thousands are slowly starving even on three meals a day.

It has been found that our food cannot furnish the life, the vital energy we need if it is short in one single element called vitamine. This is why Fleischmann's Yeast has such a new and startling importance in our diet, for yeast is the richest known source of this vital food factor.

Today thousands are eating Fleischmann's Yeast and gaining strength and vigor from its remarkable health-giving qualities.

Many physicians and hospitals prescribe Fleischmann's Yeast for undernourishment, skin eruptions, boils and constipation. It builds up the body tissues, makes them more resistant to disease.

In addition, because of its freshness (you get it fresh daily) it helps the intestines in their elimination of poisonous waste matter.

Eat Fleischmann's Yeast at any time—2 to 3 cakes a day. Have it on the table at home. Have it at your office and eat it at your desk. Ask for it at noontime at your lunch place. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor and the clean, wholesome taste it leaves in your mouth. Only one precaution: if troubled with gas, dissolve the yeast first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast.

Order from your grocer a fresh daily supply of Fleischmann's Yeast. Send 4c in stamps for the valuable new booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York, N. Y.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down condition, constipation, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamine preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamine, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

DIVA RETRACTS BAKLANOFF CHARGES

Lucille Amazar, Former Boston Star, Makes New Affidavit in Paris

Mlle. Lucille Amazar, former member of the Boston and Chicago Opera companies, whose amazing charges two years ago against Georges Baklanoff, star baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, caused his arrest, and has resulted in no end of trouble for the temperamental baritone, has retracted part of her charges, dispatches from Paris state today.

In her new affidavit, taken in Paris, where she is now living, Mlle. Amazar declares she was brought to this country by a third person and sang with the Boston Opera Company before going to Chicago w.here she joined Baklanoff. The new evidence, it is said, will be turned over to the immigration department.

In her original charges the opera diva accused the baritone of bringing her to the United States under promise of marriage and then refusing to carry out the agreement. Both were ordered deported.

Baklanoff has now been re-admitted pending final settlement of his case. This has been done in order that he may keep his season's engagement with the Chicago Opera Company.

JILTED SUITOR A CAVE MAN, SAYS COURT

Case Against Lawrence Man, Accused of Attack, Is Continued a Month

Lawrence, Nov. 23.—George Solomon, who was "thrown over" recently by Mary Wakeen of No. 215 Oak street, was termed by Judge Mahoney in District Court a "cave man." A complaint against him was continued for 30 days.

Mary admitted that she had "gone around" with George for eleven months. But it was declared "all off" on October 19. Since then, she claims, her former beau had followed her from place to place.

The climax came when he seized her by the arm with such force that it left a black and blue spot. She claimed that he told her he would do as the Italians did when girls threw them over, cut her face.

George admitted his regard for the girl. Her parents had objected to him, he said, but he had supposed that Miss Wakeen still had a "warm spot in her heart" for him.

He admitted stopping the girl, but he denied "seizing her by the arm." He said he simply "took her by the arm," the same as he had done in the days when all was "rosy and bright."

"Let the case stand for 30 days," said the court. Continuing, the judge said:

"I don't believe he intends to do her bodily harm. He's a cave man, that's all."

ART TREASURES WORTH $150,000 FOUND HERE

Paintings Stolen on Way to Charitable Home Located in Boston Warehouse

A collection of oil paintings, masterpieces appraised at a total value of over $150,000, stolen in New York a year ago from a storage warehouse, have been recovered in a Boston warehouse and returned to their owners.

The paintings were the property of a wealthy New York family, and were to have been turned over to the Girls' Catholic Home at Ridgefield, N. J.

They were finally located after their disappearance by a group of operatives from a national detective agency.

Included in the collection was a Rembrandt of "Christ Healing the Sick," worth $50,000. None of the rare canvasses was damaged in the mysterious theft.

STUDY IN BLACK AND WHITE TO PUZZLE OVER TODAY IN BOOK TEST

PROBLEMS EASY IF YOU KNOW HOW TO DO THEM

The artist submits today, for the consideration of participants in the Boston American's $5,000 Book Title Picture Test, a little something in black and white.

It will not be difficult to find the Correct Title. With a List of Titles as short as pie-crust, you should be able to rest your pencil on the answer to No. 14 in less than no time.

Today's is the fourteenth problem. There will be a total of sixty drawings. Each represents the title—and only the title—of some book.

What book? Which books? What book-title is represented by today's drawing?

There you have the problem, stated in one line. Looks easy. Looks simple. It is—— IF you understand how to go about it, IF you know "words and their meanings," and if you are not disinclined to extra effort in your own behalf.

NOT A GUESSING CONTEST.

The Book Test will consist of 60 of these drawings, each printed without its title. How are you going to determine the Correct Titles? It is NOT a guessing contest. Every day the Boston American prints a List of Titles containing among others the Correct Title of the day's picture. The title of today's picture, for example, is one of those in today's List of Titles.

One title in today's List of Titles fits today's picture better than any other title in the list. That one is the Correct Title. This will be true every day, whether the statement is repeated or not. "Better" than any other title. There may be a title, or some titles, which appear to fit the picture. The Correct Title fits it better.

The List of Titles, you will see from this, is quite as important as the Test Picture. At any time it may become vitally important. The Test Artist is your principal competitor. He does not mean that any of you shall name his 60 Pictures correctly. It CAN be done (he must guarantee that much and make good) but he says it will NOT be done.

SOME STICKLERS COMING.

Sooner or later he will produce an occasional drawing calculated to make you think. "What is in his mind today?" "What does he mean?" "What can this be?" Wait! You'll find yourself asking these questions.

Test Drawings must NOT be sent in before the close of the Test. When Picture No. 60 has been printed, you will send them in "all together at one time."

Almost forgot to mention the money. At the close of the Test, when every parcel has been numbered, listed, opened and scored, the Boston American will distribute $5,000 among the 219 readers who have sent in the largest numbers of Correct Titles. These are the awards:

One First Award	$1,000
One Second Award	750
One Third Award	500
One Fourth Award	400
One Fifth Award	300
One Sixth Award	200
One Seventh Award	150
One Eighth Award	100
One Ninth Award	50
100 Awards of $10 each	1,000
110 Awards of $5 each	550
Total	$5,000

ONE AWARD TO A FAMILY.

Every reader of the Boston American residing in New England or Canada is eligible to this competition. All the members of a family may take part, and each may send in a separate set of answers at the close of the Test. Only one award, however, will be paid to one family.

Please remember that the Test Drawings represent merely the TITLES of books; only the titles. They have nothing to do with the story, or CONTENTS of the book. Titles only! Because in two of his drawings the artist did not hold fast to this declaration, we have printed their correct titles. The Correct Title of Picture No. 5 is "Robinson Crusoe." The Correct Title of Picture No. 8 is "Rip Van Winkle." Would the drawings have told you so, if you knew nothing whatever about "Rob" and "Rip"? No. Hence, they did not live up to our declaration. When the artist makes a mistake like that we'll blab on him, every time.

Just One Little Pimple

Although a pimple will often appear despite the care given your skin, a bit of Black and White Beauty Bleach applied at bedtime will safely and quickly remove this blemish.

Black and White Beauty Bleach is the ideal skin beautifier in instances of tan, freckles or dark blotches. Black and White Soap—fragrant and dainty—should be used in connection with Beauty Bleach to keep the skin cleansed of all impurities. Black and White Cleansing Cream may be used to allay any irritation due to over-sensitive skin tissues or exposure to the air.

Your druggist sells and guarantees Black and White toilet preparations. Ask for a copy of the popular Black and White Dream Book, or write direct to Dept. E., Plough, Memphis, Tenn.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c. —Advertisement.

THIN, FADED HAIR NEEDS "DANDERINE" TO THICKEN IT

35 cents buys a bottle of "Danderine." Within ten minutes after the first application you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping your hair to grow long, thick and luxuriant.

Girls! Girls! Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, thin, scraggy. A single application of delightful Danderine will double the beauty and radiance of your hair and make it look twice as abundant.

Curling Hair This Way Preserves Its Beauty

That dull, dead appearance of the hair no longer troubles the woman who has adopted the silmerine method of keeping her tresses in curl. The result is very different from that produced by the drying, devitalizing waving iron. The hair appears more naturally wavy and curly, and the application is really beneficial to the life and growth of the hair.

Any druggist, of course, can supply the liquid silmerine. A small quantity should be put on just before doing up the hair, using for the purpose a clean tooth brush, drawing this down the full length of the hair from root to tip. The effect is delightfully surprising, and there is no discoloration, no stickiness, greasiness, nor any other unpleasant accompaniment. The hair is quite manageable no matter how it is fashioned. Fine for bobbed hair, too.—Advertisement.

LAWYERS ACT TO HAVE KEYS DECLARED SANE

Attorneys for John Baker (Romeo) Keys have, it was learned today, taken steps to have their client declared sane by the Cincinnati Probate Court, which some time ago placed the rich clubman under the care of a guardian. The new move is being made, it was asserted, so that Keys may make a will disposing of his property, estimated at between $200,000 and $300,000.

Judge Burns of the Massachusetts Superior Court recently annulled the marriage of Keys and Miss Florence Girardin on the ground that at the time of the ceremony Keys was not mentally capable of entering into any contract. Keys paid his former wife $10,000.

WORCESTER REPUBLICANS NOMINATE MINOR

Worcester, Nov. 23.—Fred A. Minor was nominated as the Republican candidate for Mayor at the Republican caucus. John B. Ware was nominated for Alderman-at-large. A bitter fight was waged in Ward 3 where J. F. Southgate was nominated for alderman over the "machine" candidate. Southgate had been out of Republican favor for some time, and had been termed a Democrat by many republicans.

The Democratic caucus will be held today and Mayor Peter F. Sullivan is expected to be unopposed.

MAYOR TO DISTRIBUTE THANKSGIVING BASKETS

Mayor Peters will visit the Salvation Army Thanksgiving Day dinner at Ford Hall, and help in the distribution of the baskets.

Today he makes an inspection of the fire protection equipment at Long Island, and will speak to the guests of the city there in the spirit of Thanksgiving. Upon his return he will visit the home of the Volunteers of America, No. 39 Howard street, and will take part in the distribution of baskets to the needy.

Rules of the Book Title Test

The Boston American Book Title Test is a test of skill and judgment open to all readers of the Boston American, irrespective of age, living in any city or town in New England or Canada.

Two hundred and nineteen cash awards will be given by this newspaper to its readers who submit the largest percentage of correct titles to the sixty pictures to be published one each day for sixty days consecutively (Sundays excepted) in the Boston American.

All employes of the Boston American and their families are absolutely barred from participation in the awards.

The test will consist of sixty pictures, each representing the title of a well-known book, to be printed, one each day, in the Boston American, the first picture on Monday, November 7, 1921.

Participation in any other contest which has been run, which is now running or which may be run by the Boston American will not debar anyone from entering this test.

Every participant or any or all members of a family will be allowed to submit one set of pictures, but each set must contain only ONE TITLE to each picture, and no participant shall be entitled to more than one award and not more than one award shall be given to any one family.

Each and every title must be neatly written or printed on the coupon furnished by the Boston American; or on a page of some book form of itself, accompanied by the picture furnished by the Boston American, or a pen or pencil copy thereof, and must have the name, residence, etc., of the participant on each title blank.

Do not send your titles in "list" form, that is, do not write titles under one another on a piece of paper.

In case there are no complete sets of correct titles, awards will be given to the person submitting the nearest correct solutions giving weight to skill and judgment.

In case of a tie awards will be made on the basis of neatness, judgment and exact accuracy, but if the tie cannot be decided in that way the tied participants will receive similar awards.

Under no circumstances should participants send in their titles before the end of the Test, as any sent in before the last picture is printed will not be considered. KEEP your titles from day to day and at the end of the Test arrange them in numerical order and then send them in all together at one time.

Time will not be a factor in making the awards. The first titles sent in after the Test closes will stand no better than the last submitted.

All titles must be delivered to the Boston American title headquarters, at No. 80 Summer street, Boston 8, Mass., either by mail or in person within the specified time limit which will be announced later.

All envelopes or packages containing titles must be legibly addressed as follows: "Book Title Test Editor, No. 80 Summer street, Boston 8, Mass., P. O. Box 239," and each envelope or package must bear the name and address of the sender legibly written or stamped on the upper left-hand corner.

As all pictures in the Test will contain written or printed matter, if mailed it is absolutely necessary that the packages be fully prepaid at postal rates, as mail of this character goes to the postoffice as first-class matter. The Boston American reserves the right to refuse to consider any sets of titles on which charges for postal delivery are not fully prepaid.

There will be no title or answer book to buy. List of Book Titles will be printed in the Boston American. The list appearing will contain among others the correct title.

Participants who desire further information should address their inquiries to the Book Title Editor, No. 80 Summer street, Boston 8, Mass. Questions will be answered as far as possible through the columns of the Boston American. If participants desire personal replies, they should enclose stamped and self-addressed envelopes.

The Boston American reserves the right to make any change in, or addition to these conditions that it may deem necessary for fairly and properly conducting the Test, and the decision of the Boston American Book Title Editor on any question which may arise will be absolutely final, and the entry of a participant is a complete acceptance of all conditions and regulations now made or to be made.

LEGION TO GET BILL FOR HERO'S DENTAL WORK

"Such is fame," quoth a certain Roxbury dentist today as he looked mournfully at a bill for $5.50 that lay on his desk. A scant few days ago he had been proud of the fact that he had been called to ease an aching molar of an aide to Lieutenant-General Jacques, Belgian hero. He sent the bill to the hotel of the Belgian guest, but the guest had gone. He sent it to the city, but the city sent back word a bill couldn't be paid without legislative permission. Now the bill is going to the Legion.

SOUTH BOSTON BOY KILLED BY AUTO

Six-year-old Benjamin Konon of No. 24 West Broadway, South Boston, was almost instantly killed when he was struck by an automobile at the corner of Dorchester and West Second streets. The driver of the machine, Samuel Waldstein, of No. 123 Babcock street, Brookline, rushed the lad to the City Hospital, where he was pronounced dead of a fractured skull upon arrival.

TEST TO NAME AUTO WINDS UP TODAY

Participants Have Until Midnight, Nov. 28, to Get Their Answers In

The Boston American's $1,500 Name-This-Auto Competition closes today.

Participants have from now until midnight on Monday of next week, November 28, to get their answers in. Parcels sent by mail must not bear a postmark later than that hour and date. Those who prefer may bring their sets of answers to No. 80 Summer street and leave them at the counter in the business office on the street floor. None will be received there, under any circumstances, after midnight next Monday.

The minute the time limit expires the scoring will begin. Inasmuch as thousands have taken part in the competition, this may take some time. Announcement of the winners will be made as soon as the answers have been scored and the merits of "Walk Right-Drive Right" suggestions fully considered.

Meanwhile, here are a few final suggestions:

Remember that you are to send in a full set of answers, that is, sixty names for the sixty automobiles, together with a "Walk Right-Drive Right" suggestion of not more than 100 words.

Do not send any letter of explanation with your set of answers. If the drawings are pasted on sheets of paper, use only one side of each sheet.

The answer blanks (the drawing, together with your answer and the name and address coupon) are to be arranged in numerical order, No. 1 on top, No. 2 under No. 1 and so on; No. 60 to be the bottom answer blank.

Your "Walk Right-Drive Right" suggestion is to be placed ON TOP of your set of answers; that is, on top of the No. 1 blank, practically making a cover for the set.

When you are certain that the answer blanks are in numerical order, 1 to 60, and your Walk Right-Drive Right suggestion is placed on top of No. 1, fasten them all together at the top in the most secure manner you can devise. Stitch them, bind them with tape or use a paper-fastener.

Be sure to weigh your package. Put sufficient postage on it to carry it by first-class mail. Your complete set may be disqualified, under the rules, if it comes to us without sufficient postage.

When received by us, your set of answers should bear the postmark of your local postoffice, or wherever it is mailed, as NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT OF MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28. That gives you five days.

Your entire composition (not counting its title) must contain not more than 100 words. Your name and address should be written at the bottom of your suggestion.

WESTFIELD METHODISTS BAR SATURDAY MEETINGS

Westfield, Nov. 23.—Saturday meetings of any church organizations of the Methodist Church are not allowed, according to an announcement in the church calendar. Recently a ban has been placed on many of the Saturday night dances about the city.

MURDERED GIRL'S LEGS FOUND IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 23.—Wrapped in a newspaper, the legs of the woman whose mutilated torso was found in a pond in Queens October 22, were discovered in a vacant lot at the corner of Broadway and 242nd street. When the torso was found it was wrapped in a newspaper of the same date, October 20, and a piece of oilcloth.

ROCKLAND BOY KILLED BY WALTHAM AUTO

Rockland, Nov. 23.—Wendell Sides, eleven-year old son of Arthur Sides of Main street, was instantly killed when he stepped in the path of an automobile driven by Nelson Page of Waltham. The accident was unavoidable as far as Page was concerned, police say. The lad's father is a member of the Boston police force.

SURPRISES IN MUNICIPAL PRIMARIES

Daggett Fails to Win Somerville Nomination and Shaw Loses in Lynn

Failure of popular and machine candidates to secure nominations featured primary elections held in seven cities in the vicinity of Boston, and in other cities throughout the Commonwealth.

The big surprises were the defeat of Warren C. Daggett, candidate for the nomination for mayor of Somerville, and the failure of Frederick E. Shaw of Lynn to qualify for the nomination for mayor in that city.

Mayoralty contests were held in Lawrence, Lynn, Somerville, Chelsea, Everett, Revere, Lynn and Worcester.

At Somerville the machine candidate, Eugene M. Carmen, was defeated and John M. Webster received the nomination for mayor. Daggett, "the people's candidate," ran third. John J. Murphy, Democratic candidate, was unopposed.

Chelsea voters nominated Lawrence F. Quigley and Alton E. Briggs for mayor. At Lynn Harland A. McPhetres, a world war veteran who served overseas with the 101st Field Artillery, was the surprise candidate. He was nominated to oppose Mayor Walter H. Creamer at the coming elections. Attorney Frederick E. Shaw, who was expected to poll a big vote, ran in third place. The vote in Lynn was extremely light.

Mayor Christopher Harrison of Everett and former Representative Fred C. Greenwood were nominated as mayoralty candidates in that city. A bit of spice was injected into the situation when former Mayor John J. Mitton announced that he will run for mayor as a "sticker" candidate.

At Lawrence Daniel W. Mahoney and Mayor William P. White were nominated for mayor. A very heavy vote was cast, more than 18,000 out of a possible 20,000 votes being cast.

BIG XMAS PIANO SALE NOW ON

J. P. COLLINS

SAVE $100. AT 100 SUMMER STREET

The old trade shortage story is abroad again in the land, talk of piano shortage and higher prices before Christmas. But there will be no higher prices on this floor. I am keeping prices down and refuse to profiteer, shortage or no shortage.
My 1921 Christmas Piano Exhibition and Sale surpasses in magnitude, beauty and bargains all my previous displays and offerings.
My Big Xmas Cut Price Piano Sale is now on—into it I have put my entire stock of New Pianos marked down to figures that have given me my national reputation for low price piano selling. I am severely criticized for selling pianos at such ridiculously low prices. However, I fail to see how anyone is going to suffer from my low prices but myself, and I intend to continue my policy of big sales and small profits. I have often told the public that I preferred to sell 100 pianos at $1 apiece profit than to sell one piano at $100 profit. I will try to show you how to save $100 on the purchase of any make piano you desire. J. 'THEODORA' IS ROMANCE OF ANCIENT DAYS

Close Attention to Historical Detail Marks Film at the Shubert

"Theodora," which Goldwyn presents at the Shubert Theatre, is a romance of ancient Byzantium in the days when the actress-Empress ruled both the Emperor Justinian and the city which is now called Constantinople.

The story of Theodora and Justinian belongs to the realm of real history, although there has always been great divergence as to the character of the heroine. By some contemporaries, who evidently hated her, she was painted in scarlet—without one redeeming feature, excepting courage and absolute independence. Victorien Sardou condensed the later love affair of the royal lady into the drama which enlisted the talents of Sara Bernhardt and Fannie Davenport, as rival "Theodoras," some thirty years ago.

Now the Unione Cenematrigafica, under direction of the celebrated Commendatore Arturo Ambrosia, has filled the play with all the magnificent effects and close attention to historical detail made familiar in America by the same director's wonderful "Cabiria."

ONE OF STRIKING SCENES FROM "THEODORA" FILM

RITA JOLIVET AND RENE MAUPRE

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By FRIEDA DAVIS.

THERE'S no denying that Rex Ingram can produce vivid and unusual pictures, nor that his films are unmistakably Rex Ingram. Therefore it was to be expected that "The Conquering Power," adapted from Balzac's story, "Eugenie Grandet," would bear more of the stamp of its director than of its author. This is the case. Regardless, however, of what Ingram may or may not do with a story, it is bound to be a successful one in the end. "Eugenie Grandet" is a remarkable story. "The Conquering Power" is a remarkable film. Balzac was a masterful writer; Rex Ingram stands very nearly alone as a director.

License has been taken with the story right and left, particularly toward the end. June Mathis, who wrote the continuity, has made innumerable changes, but anyone not familiar with the original story—and it is surprising how many are not—won't care anyway because of the success of the film.

Alice Terry does even better work with the role of Eugenie Grandet than she did as Marguerite Laurier in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." She has beauty, restraint and quiet manners that are quite as effective as real acting would be from a more experienced player.

Rudolph Valentine again scores, this time as the idle, pampered son of a millionaire. Idleness doesn't fit him quite as convincingly as the fiery emotionalism of Julio Desnoyers, nor even as the role of Armand Duval in "Camille." However, to all appearances he can be counted upon in any sort of role. I recall that he stood out in an extremely small part in a Clara Kimball Young film a few years ago, and that was before anyone knew who Valentine was, before he was "discovered." He should be splendid as the picturesque shiek in the film of that name, which comes to the Park Theatre next week.

Ralph Lewis is given the trying role of the miserly, tyrannical Pere Grandet, a part in which he acquits himself very creditably. In his death scene, which, by the way, is very different from that devised by Balzac, Ingram has let his imagination and his property men run riot. The walls of the room where he keeps his gold close in on him little by little and a cabinet of gold pieces topples over, literally suffocating him with his own wealth.

The end has been changed for the usual happy finish. Instead of having Eugenie marry the idiotic Cruchot, as Balzac thought fitting, Charles is allowed to return in time for an understanding and a last happy close-up with his cousin. The change without doubt leaves a far pleasanter taste.

Ingram has, naturally, done a splendid piece of directing. The lighting, the settings, the action are all carefully and artistically carried out. June Mathis wrote the continuity with care are plausibility, while the photography is capital.

Exception can, and has, been taken to the costuming and "prop" fitting of the film. This has, however, been taken care of by Ingram in his foreword. He states that the picture was not intended as a period production, but as an universal story.

The family of Pere Grandet in Noyant dress in Victorian costumes, while Charles arrives from Paris in an up-to-date limousine and dressed in a modern manner. He uses a fountain pen, while his uncle uses a quill pen. These are small points, and, to me, at least, plausible. Pere Grandet was a provincial, narrow-minded man who scarcely knew what the rest of the world did, while Charles had spent the greater portion of his life living as hard as he could. Is the difference in pens so great, considering all this? At any rate, it emphasizes the difference between the characters.

"FOR THOSE WE LOVE."

THE companion picture on the bill—all this, I forgot to mention, is to be seen this week at the Modern and Beacon Theatre—is the Goldwyn film featuring Betty Compson, "For Those We Love."

Again we have a rural film. It would seem that Mr. Goldwyn is determined to advocate the joys of country life to the motion picture audiences of the United States. Unfortunately, he doesn't succeed any too well in proving that country life is the best, after all. Trouble comes and goes quite as indiscriminately as in the city and without half the excitement connected with it.

This is all true of "For Those We Love." Betty Compson has to carry the burden of her family's faults and misfortunes on her shoulders, while the villain pursues and the small town sewing circles gossip and point indignant fingers. There is little that is convincing and almost less that is interesting.

AUTO EDITORS ATTEND DODGE CAR LUNCHEON

At a unique gathering in the Copley-Plaza the Sponsors' Club, composed of Boston automobile editors who seven years ago introduced the Dodge Brothers' car to the New England motoring public, met at a luncheon in honor of the seventh anniversary of the car. C. S. Henshaw was the happy host.

The luncheon was held to discuss plans for the proper celebration of the seventh birthday of the Henshaw Motor Company, which this year will take the form of an owners' day on Tuesday, November 29, and a public reception and display continuing the rest of the week.

Mr. Henshaw spoke informally, tracing the growth of the Dodge Brothers factory from its modest beginnings to its present 110-acre plant with an output of 550 cars a day, and attributing no small part of the world-wide popularity of the car to the keen interest of the newspapers.

Covers were laid for fourteen, those present besides Mr. Henshaw being H. D. Day, district representative of Dodge Brothers; J. P. Dempsey, Boston Herald; C. F. Donnocker, Boston American; J. C. Kerrison, Boston Advertiser; Charles F. Marden, Boston Transcript; H. H. Martin, Boston Transcript; J. J. McNamara, Boston Post; Louis Marchant, Boston Post; J. T. Sullivan, Boston Globe, and H. Hodgdon, C. W. Hoicker, W. M. Little and R. S. Richey of the Henshaw Motor Company.

BEDETTI AND GEBHARD IN ENJOYABLE CONCERT

One of the finest concerts of its kind heard in Boston in a long time was given last night in Jordan Hall by Jean Bedetti, first 'cellist of Boston Symphony Orchestra, assisted by Heinrich Gebhard, pianist. A large audience was in attendance and was liberal with well merited applause. Mr. Bedetti's playing last night had the touch of the finished artist. He proved what a treat a 'cello concert can be. The program was well chosen. His playing of a rollicking nocturne by Paul Paray, Jean Hure's Sonata in F sharp minor, and Boccherini's Adagio and Allegro from Sonata, A Major No. 6, were especially enjoyed. Mr. Gebhard's playing was all that could be desired.

For Itching Eczema Old Sores and Piles

"I guarantee my ointment," says Peterson of Buffalo, "to cure eczema; to stop the itching at once, and any reliable druggist will cheerfully refund your money if PETERSON'S OINTMENT doesn't do everything I say it will do."

William A. Carley of Franklin, N. Y., is surely a wise man. He writes: "I used PETERSON'S OINTMENT on a little boy suffering terribly from eczema. It did the work."

Then there is Alex. Louttel, a brave fireman of Buffalo, who is glad to write as follows: "I had an old sore on my leg for many years. The best doctors failed. PETERSON'S OINTMENT entirely healed the sore quickly." And from over in Canada comes a letter from A. Blockeby, stating: "The best thing I ever hit for itching piles is PETERSON'S OINTMENT." CANADA AIDS COMMITTEE.

The Canadian governmental and civic officials are extending the most hearty co-operation to the committee on arrangements. The following telegram was received by Congressman Lester D. Volk, chairman of the committee on arrangements, from J. Stanley Cook, secretary of the Montreal Board of Trade:

"Montreal Board of Trade heartily welcomes visit of Congressional party re taxation, and places its committee rooms at their services during stay here. President of Senate Webster cordially invites party to lunch Tuesday, November 29th. Canadian Club extending invitation to lunch on Monday, November 28th. Prompt confirmation of date of visit and number in party necessary."

As already has been announced, Sir James Lougheed, acting Prime Minister of Canada, has sent word that the delegation will be entertained by the Dominion Cabinet and Parliament members. P. W. Breadner, chief commissioner of taxation of the Canadian Department of Finance, will extend every facility to the visiting delegation in their study of the sales tax. In Ottawa also there will be conferences between the delegates and the Board of Trade, at which the attitude of the business men of Ottawa will be explained.

Eager desire to study the sales tax as applied in Canada is expressed in many letters of acceptance of the invitation received from members of Congress. James V. McClintic of Oklahoma says:

"At the present time I am disposed to oppose the proposed sales tax. However, I am always pleased to be enlightened on any subject; therefore it will give me great pleasure to accept the invitation."

Harry M. Wurzbach, Fourteenth District, Texas, says:

"With reference to the invitation of Mr. Hearst to the members of Congress, which involves a trip to Canada, for a close study of the sales tax, allow me to say that I will be pleased to accept. I want to see at first hand how the farmers of Canada feel towards the sales tax.

"It will be my pleasure to accompany the party and obtain such light as I may be able on the sales tax. Note of any change in arrangements will be gratefully received."

CURLEY CHARGES $350,000 SPENT TO BEAT HIM

Says Tague and Gallivan Were Bought by "Reform Forces" 4 Years Ago

Charges that Congressman James A. Gallivan and Congressman Peter F. Tague were bought by the "so-called reform forces" of the city four years ago to defeat him for re-election were made by former Mayor James M. Curley at a rally at the Franklin School, South End.

Mr. Curley said that the wholesale "purchases" made by the "so-called reform element" four years ago included not only the two Congressmen, who were candidates against him, but the news columns of all the newspapers, save one, and most of the editorial columns.

He said it was estimated that the campaign against him cost $350,000.

Mr. Curley also made attacks upon "two stalking-horse" candidates in the present campaign that were construed as referring to District-Attorney Pelletier and Mr. O'Connor.

Mr. Curley spoke to big audiences, the school hall being well filled, with a large overflow crowd outside the building. Motion-picture reels, contrasting the expenditure of public funds during his and Mayor Peters' administrations, were shown and the Curley serenaders sang lively campaign songs.

Former Mayor James M. Curley will continue tonight his policy of "naming names" in his mayoralty contest by going before an audience in the William E. Russell school, Dorchester, with charges against certain men who, he says, are responsible for the increased valuation of Boston property and the 10-cent Boston Elevated fare.

He will be joined by Representative John W. McCormack, a member of the investigating committee that probed the charges in connection with the passage of the Boston Elevated bill in the House, and who will give his version of the affair.

Motion pictures of events in the Curley administration, and a number of musical performances, will complete the program.

TENSION LESSENED IN ANGORA DIFFICULTY

London, Nov. 23.—The tension between England and France over the Angora agreement has been considerably lessened, it was announced by the Foreign Office today. It was learned that France has signified her willingness to recede from her former position with regard to her pact with the Angora government to avoid offending Great Britain. A British warship has been sent to Angora to remove all British nationals from that territory.

MAN FOUND IN CHARLTON IS PUZZLE TO POLICE

Southbridge, Nov. 23.—Mystery surrounds the identity of a man found wandering in a weakened condition in Charlton. He has steadfastly refused to speak in the three days he has been cared for at the police station. The only response he will give to questions is to shake his head.

The man is about twenty-eight years old and five feet nine inches tall.

GILBODY LAUNCHES HIS CAMPAIGN FOR COUNCIL

Advocating the collection of garbage and ashes semi-weekly, George Gilbody of Dorchester, candidate for the City Council, last night launched his campaign.

He addressed more than ten meetings in the city, finishing his tour at the meeting of the West Roxbury Improvement Association, in the Robert Gould Shaw School, that district. At the final hour of filing papers Gilbody and his supporters presented more than 10,000 signatures on his nomination papers to the election commissioners for certification.

ARREST HALTS NEW REVOLT IN MEXICO

Quick Action and Seizure of Ammunition Follows Big Plot by Rebels

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 23.—Amavisca, a former colonel in the forces of Francisco Villa, is incarcerated today at Nogales, Sonora, charged with being implicated in a plot to foment revolution in the State of Sonora.

A. Vasquez, a civil engineer of Sonora, is being held for investigation.

The arrest of Amavisca, Sonora authorities believe, had nipped in the bud a widespread plot for revolution in Northern Mexico.

Arrest of other leaders in the revolt movement is expected.

Credit for the arrest that is believed to have halted the revolt is given to General P. Elias Calles, secretary of the Interior of Mexico, who came to Nogales at the head of a force of 600 federal troops. These troops are encamped two miles south of the International boundary.

American customs guards along the border, it was reported today, have made three seizures of ammunition believed to have been intended for the use of the rebels within the last twenty-four hours. More than 20,000 rounds of ammunition are said to have been confiscated.

A military guard has been placed around the custom house, postoffice and other public buildings in Nogales, Sonora.

ELKS GIVE OUT 1500 TURKEYS STAG NIGHT

Theatre Stars Aid in Entertainment for Cause of Charity

Five hundred turkeys were given away at the Thanksgiving stag night of Boston Lodge of Elks in the Elks' Home on Somerset street. And with the party a considerable sum was raised toward the Elks' charity fund.

Local stars contributed to the entertainment, going to the lodge room right from their dressing rooms after their performances.

Boston lodge will have its Sunday memorial service on Sunday, December 4, at which Dr. Joseph Santosuosso will speak. On January 10 and 11 wives, mothers and sweethearts will give a bazaar in aid of the charity fund at the Elks' Home and arrangements are being made for the annual ball at the Copley-Plaza January 23.

The Pink of Condition

MEANS A CONSTANT FIGHT AGAINST CATARRH

The stagnation, we call catarrh, places a big handicap on ninety-seven persons out of every hundred.

Life's battle is fierce enough for most of us without any added and unnecessary obstacles to good health and our best efforts.

Coughs, colds, nasal catarrh, stomach and bowel disorders are among the more common of the many catarrhal diseases. Whatever its form, catarrh is always a clog to the development of natural ability, a check to the earning power and a hindrance to one's happiness.

No one is capable of his or her best when sick, and catarrh is sickness, holding always the threat of something [illegible].

Keep fit. Fight catarrh. Fight it with a remedy of assured merit and a record of usefulness in the destruction of catarrhal stagnation extending over half a century.

Mrs. M. J. Riley, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 101, Calvert, Texas, writes:

"I know Pe-ru-na is good for coughs, colds and catarrh."

Mr. R. S. Hanna, Lock Box 205, Noble, Ill., says:

"I got rid of the worst case of catarrh of the head by the use of Pe-ru-na."

The number of people cannot be estimated who have learned by experience that Pe-ru-na is the proper medicine to clear away accumulated catarrhal poisons, enrich the blood, restore the appetite, soothe the inflamed mucous linings and put life and vigor into the whole body.

The reliability and merit of Pe-ru-na as a family medicine has been established by fifty years faithful service in the American home.

Mrs. WILLIMAN TESTIFIES

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city but I kept getting worse and only weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound tablets, four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away. Now I weigh 155 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word for your medicine."—Mrs. JOSEPH WILLIMAN, 722 South 9th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

Thanksgiving Day Message To New England

By RT. REV. EDWIN H. HUGHES, D. D., LL. D.

Resident Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, New England Conference, Boston District.

BISHOP EDW. H. HUGHES.

THE year 1921 seems to me to call for profound thanksgiving and the nearer we have come to the formal day, the larger have the reasons become—for a steady return of commercial prosperity, for the wonderful international conference looking toward peace now being held at Washington, for what I believe to be a growing religious feeling among our people—for all these, we may well give thanks to God.

MERCHANDISE UP TO A STANDARD

Instead of Our Customary Once-A-Month Itemized Account of This Sale,

HOVEY'S announce a two-day event so great in its scope that comprehensive listing of all the items is impracticable:

DEMONSTRATION DAYS

TWO days, instead of one;

Friday and Saturday of this week.

Wherever you turn you will find surprises—VALUES so unusual that you will find a tour of the store one of the most important shopping trips, from a savings standpoint, you have ever made.

All Small Lots from the Month's Selling Sharply MARKED DOWN for clearance! Seasonable Apparel at Exceptional Reductions! Gift Opportunities!

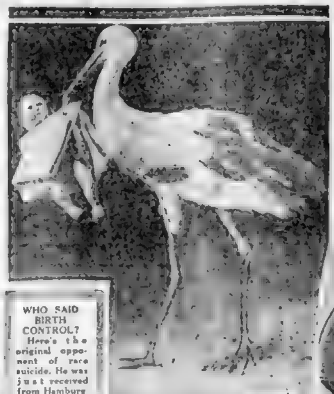
Look for the pink placards throughout the store—on every aisle, on every counter, they will proclaim the exceptional Demonstration Day Values.

In Every Department Some Things Reduced; In Many Departments Many Things Reduced!

HOVEY'S—FRIDAY and SATURDAY, November 25 and 26.

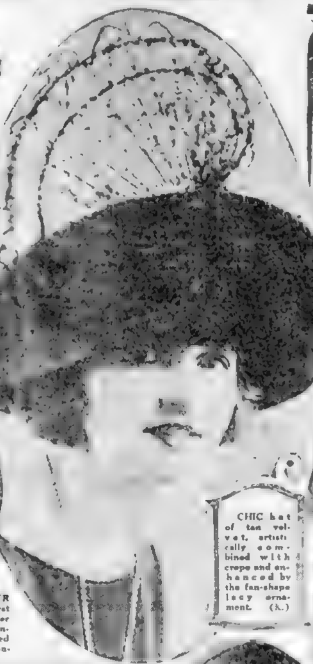
WIN A PRIZE, GIRLS, BY ENTERING THE PRETTY MOTORIST TEST

NO MAN'S LAND! The ubiquitous flivver is again on the job this time as a "bathing machine" in sunny California. Photo shows Phyllis Thompson entering her limousine bathhouse. (U. & U.)



WHO SAID BIRTH CONTROL?
Here's the original opponent of race suicide. He was just received from Hamburg Germany, and will grace the Selig Zoo, Los Angeles. There were 21 birds in the shipment

MRS. L. R. SCHUYLER of N. Y. is the first Northern women ever elected president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. (W. W.)

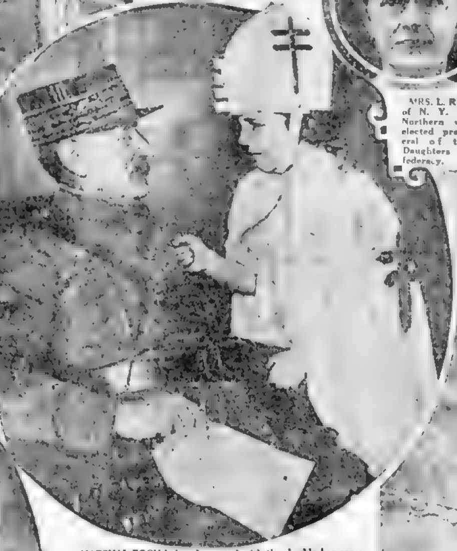


CHIC hat of tan velvet, artistically combined with crepe and enhanced by the fan-shape lacy ornament. (K.)

WESLEY MAY proved that dare-devil stunts are of practical value by leaping from a plane to another out of fuel with a 5-gallon can of gasoline strapped to his back. Test took place at Long Beach, Cal. (U. & U.)

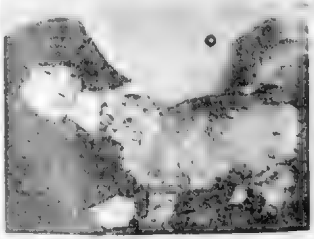
MRS. CHARLES C. HARROLD, who, on the simple promise that she would see that the streets were kept clean, was elected alderman at Macon, Ga. First woman to hold office (K.)

HAVE YOU ENTERED?
Estelle Cusgol, of 32 Wildwood St., Mattapan, wins $5 in the Pretty Motorist Test. Send in your auto picture. Address Pictorial Editor. Photos must be clear.



MARSHAL FOCH being decorated with the double bar cross of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis Presentation was made in N. Y. by little Adrienne Mayer. (Int.)

A LIGHT but momentous topic! Grindell Mathews and his invention a submersible boat controlled by searchlight only. Bought by British just before armistice



NICE KITTY, costly kitty! Behold Lord Thrifty Fifo, silver Persian cat, worth $2,000, and now on tour of country. Shown with owner Mrs. Arthur Snyder, of San Francisco. (Int.)

FINISH of blind boys' race at a Philadelphia school Athletes run side of rope to which ring is attached. Rope strands warns him of finish Remarkably fast time was recorded

MISS PAULINE THAYER, 19, socially prominent in Philadelphia, has decided to spurn social life to become a concert violinist.

THE FISH TAKES TO WHEELS! Europeans are not the only ones to invent amphibious conveyances. This one was devised by a Bayonne, N. J., man, and travels equally as well on land as in water. Craft is shown just coming out of the "wet." (Int.)

HOW TIME FLIES! This is a little story about the evolution of the chorus girl—and her garb. Dad well remembers the be-tighted and bell-figured chorine of the 80's and her successor, the lady who wore the dust-catching skirt and carried the be-ribboned staff so majestically. So one hardly expects too much of the present day ladies of the ensemble. But a genuine innovation is the pogo girls and their trim little athletic suits. They combine simplicity and charm without vulgarity We are tired of seeing them dance (and one hardly expects them to sing), so let them pogo! (U. & U.)

GIRLS, IS MY NOSE SHINY? Paris, where all the fads come from, send this out as its latest whim—a powder puff cleverly concealed in the petals of a rose worn as a corsage bouquet or at the belt. The rose, of course, is artificial. (K.)

TEARLESS SMOKE! This new curved cigarette holder, which eliminates "smoky eyes," is ideal for pawnbrokers and cake eaters. This fad comes from London. (N. W.)

Why TRY to Treat Piles from the Outside?

You Can Not Possibly Reach the Real Trouble With Ointments, Salves, Dilators or Other Local Treatments--They May Ease for the Moment, But Can Never Heal Where They Can Never Reach.

Don't Submit to An Operation—

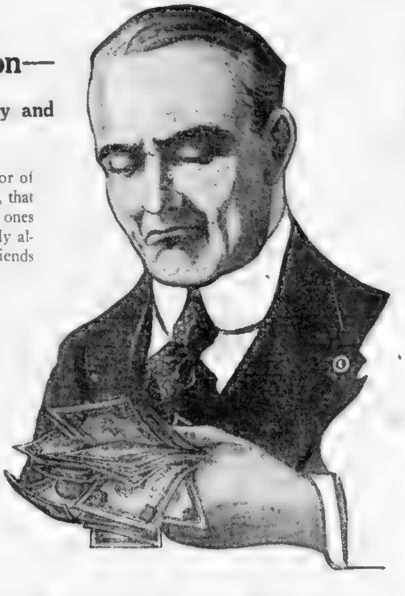
Until You Have Tried Our Easy and Sensible Treatment.

No matter how severe your case may be, or of how long standing. The old, stubborn cases, that are supposed to be "incurable" are the very ones we like best to write to us—for we can nearly always count upon those people to be our best friends and boosters after this treatment has made them well.

Neither does it matter where you live nor what your occupation may be—we are as near to you as your mail box, and if you are troubled with piles, this method will give you quick relief and within a short time you will have joined the ranks of the thousands who write us that they feel themselves to be permanently cured.

We want you to understand that the Page Method is DIFFERENT from all others and that it is the ONE MOST RELIABLE and SUREST remedy for the home treatment of piles. Send the coupon NOW while you have the matter in mind and this page before you.

Don't let anyone persuade you to submit to an operation until you have at least given this internal method a trial and a chance to cure you. A few days' delay will not make your case much harder for the surgeon, and you may not need him at all.



Money Can Not Buy Many Pleasures for the Man or Woman Suffering from Piles.

There Are Times When the Certain Relief Afforded by the PAGE PILE TREATMENT Is Worth All the Money In A Bank

There is only one sensible, sure and Safe way to treat piles and prevent them from coming back every few weeks to annoy and pain you again. This is by permanently healing them with the Page Internal Treatment. While the Page treatment includes both an ointment and a bowel regulator, we tell you frankly and honestly in our directions that these will give but temporary relief—But that Permanent Benefit will come from the Page Pile Tablet. This is a very pleasant tasting tablet and you will enjoy chewing one or two after meals. This System for the Cure of Piles has been sold for More than a Quarter of a Century and is endorsed in Thousands of Letters Reporting the Cure of cases that seemed beyond hope of relief

We Can Prove Every Statement That We Make

This method of treating Piles, from the INSIDE instead of the OUTSIDE is not a new idea or something that has not been given a thorough test. In another place on this page we quote from a letter received from a patient who took our treatment 18 years ago and has never had the slightest return of his trouble.

The one BIG recommendation of this method of treatment is the PERMANENCY of the benefits derived.

Another case speaks of having been healed after six torturing years of bleeding piles, and this was accomplished by our trial package alone

Surely if you are ever troubled with piles, you will send the coupon from this page and receive the trial treatment.

Every One Has A Kind Word to Say of The Page (Internal) Pile Treatment.

Two Tablets and Back to Work

"I have been a sufferer from piles of the worst form for the past six years. I had consulted with the best [illegible] but to no avail. I had been unable to work for the two weeks previous to the time I sent for your treatment and suffered terribly, not being able to find a position I could rest in.

The day I received the medicine I took [illegible] tablets after supper and one [illegible] before I retired. The next day I [illegible] and have continued to work ever since. I feel like a new man.

I have recommended your treatment to a friend of mine who is bothered with [illegible] piles, as I know it will knock 'em out.

Thanking you kindly for the prompt attention given my order, I am yours for success.

Aged 58—Suffered for Years

I want you to know what your treatment has done for me. I had suffered with piles for many years and used suppositories and all kinds of treatments, but never got relief until I tried yours. Am now completely cured. Although I am 58 years old and the oldest active blacksmith in Michigan, I feel years younger since the piles left me. I will always recommend it to all I know who suffer this way. You can use my letter any way you wish and I hope it will lead others to try this wonderful remedy."

Told There Was No "Home Cure"

"Replying to your recent [illegible] I am glad to be able to state that the two large size packages of Treatment [illegible] ordered for my son cured him sound and well.

I have tried several remedies, but none seemed to have any effect [illegible] by some that there was [illegible] a Home Cure for piles. Then by chance I picked up a piece of paper [illegible] saw your advertisement [illegible] for a free sample, got it and after I had seen what it had done I ordered another. And I say I can bless the day that I picked up that scrap of paper and [illegible] your advertisement [illegible] the E. R. Page Pile Remedy. I have recommended it to my friends here and I sent some of your pamphlets to friends in other States.

Now you may use this letter or any part of it as you may see fit [illegible] your wonderful remedy. With best wishes for your success, I remain

Yours very truly,

GEORGE DILBOY POST WILL HOLD TOURNEYS

George Dilboy Post, V. F. W. 529, of Somerville, is having a series of boxing tournaments held once a [illegible] beginning January 1, under [illegible] of N. E. A. A. A. U.

The bouts will be held in classes at [illegible] 115 and 125 pounds. Valuable [illegible] will be awarded to each class. Entries should be forwarded to Edward M. Mullandy, room 3, K. of C. Building, Somerville.

OLYMPIC BODY TO STANDARDIZE RULES

New York, Nov. 23.—Representatives from all amateur associations, together with those from the army and navy, will meet here on Friday to adopt a constitution for an Olympic Association of the United States, it was announced today. The mission of the new federation will be to maintain a permanent organization representative of amateur sports in the United States to standardize rules for athletic contests and to direct the participation of this country in Olympic games.

Draw for Pal

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 23.—Pal M[illegible] of New Orleans and Willie [illegible] Cleveland, formerly of New [illegible], fought twelve fast rounds here. Newspapermen called the bout a draw.

Says Very Few Husbands Deceive Their Wives, but a Lot of Them Think They Do.

Jealousy is a thing which makes a wife think her husband is out with some strange girl when the chances are he's known her a long time.

A married man promises to "love, honor and obey," in English, but he reserves the rights for foreign countries.

A model husband isn't necessarily a man who goes out with one.

Most hubbies are as honest as the day is long, but they make their dates in the evening.

They'll tell their wives anything they already know.

Never look in your husband's pockets for letters. The only ones you'll find are a couple you gave him to mail.

Always trust him till the end, but if you trust him too much that'll be the end.

Very few husbands deceive their wives, but a lot of them think they do.

One man went away and his wife told him to send her a dollar every time he felt like flirting. Before he'd been gone a week she had two hundred bucks in the bank.

If he'd stayed away a little longer she'd have been able to pay for their home.

One man wrote his wife "My conscience hurts me so I'm going to give up three of my girl friends. When it hurts me again I'll give up three more."

Married couples should have no secrets. A man [illegible] tell his wife everything [illegible] to [illegible] anyway.

A woman should trust her husband anywhere he goes so long as she goes with him.

A man may be on the square with his wife today and on the same square with some other girl tomorrow.

One man resolved that every time he [illegible] his wife he'd drink a glass of water. The poor fellow drowned himself.

One woman said "There's only one man living who can be trusted and he's dead."

A man will swear with his right hand that he'll be true and at the same time write down some girl's phone number with the other.

Always remember that there was only one perfect man and he was your wife's first husband.

Coach O'Brien of Boston Latin wishes for nothing more than a dry field when his team lines up against its ancient rival, Boston English High, at Braves Field tomorrow. Every year these two schools meet and it is a signal for the alumni, student body and teachers to turn out to witness these two schoolboy teams fight for every inch of ground.

This will be the head liner in a double header. Commerce and Dorchester High will play in the preliminary. That means that 9.30 will be starting time for activities at the Wigwam Thanksgiving morning.

ROBSON ASSERTS HE'LL STOP MIKE GIBBONS

By RINGSIDE

Roy Green, matchmaker and manager of the Fenway A. A., will put the old fight game right back on its feet, according to reports from his headquarters at No. 216 Washington street, and the Tommy Robson-Mike Gibbons bout slated for Friday night at the Arena is the tonic that will perform this cure.

Both boys are "in the pink" and a corking good bout is in store for the fans if these rivals do even half what they assert they will accomplish.

The bout is all over, but the collecting as far as Robson is concerned as shown by the following [illegible]:

> Dear Sir—On Friday [illegible] Boston Arena, I will get [illegible] I have been waiting for [illegible] the ring with Mike Gibbons [illegible] the best condition of my [illegible]
>
> [illegible] understand [illegible] manager of [illegible] agreed to let [illegible] middleweight [illegible] Well, I want to tell my [illegible] right to meet W[illegible] will be the next middleweight [illegible] beat him before he was [illegible] and I can do it again.
>
> Against Gibbons I intend [illegible] fans that [illegible] I do [illegible] be outpointed is to [illegible]
>
> A rushing fight [illegible] stop punching and [illegible] to go. I have [illegible] middleweight in the [illegible] bons will be knocked [illegible] time in his life.
>
> The fans that remember [illegible] Ted Kid Lewis [illegible] see the same kind of a bout on [illegible] and [illegible] for Wilson.

* * *

Fine letter, but Malden Tommy will probably find it much harder to hit Gibbons than it is to pound the very life out of a few helpless typewriter keys.

Matchmaker Green also wishes it announced that as Christmas is close at hand he is going to play Santa [illegible] fans and has selected that number of seats which go on sale today for one dollar a throw.

NO HOLDUPS ON REFEREES AT ARENA

Manager Brown Takes Step to Protect Those Who Will Go to Hockey Games

There will be no eleventh hour holdups on the referee question in hockey matches played at the Boston Arena this season. [illegible] Manager [illegible] Brown is [illegible] club matches.

His first action toward this end has been taken in the [illegible] club league and when the [illegible] is adopted two men will be assigned to each game and each team will know before the season starts just who will handle the whistle on the ice.

Delays in starting games were reduced to a minimum last year as compared with [illegible] Arena [illegible] Manager Brown [illegible] for [illegible] along the [illegible]

Brown's action will be commended by [illegible] patrons [illegible] Arena [illegible] hockey [illegible] hockey players.

The [illegible] manager is working on a plan to improve the [illegible] at the Arena [illegible] known, [illegible] there are a few [illegible] who have come here highly recommended, and one among them might be the [illegible] perfect referee, never seen in a hockey match in this city.

TECH FRESHMEN HOLD A BOXING TOURNAMENT

The Tech freshmen staged a boxing exhibition in the first installment of the novice tournament which is being held each week at Walker Memorial. Six bouts were held last night, one in the 115-pound class, three in the [illegible] pound class and two of the 135-pound type.

C. B. Farron and H. S. Rogers in the 115-pound division started off the tournament. [illegible] Rogers took the offensive [illegible] good and was awarded the [illegible] The first [illegible] bout was between R. W. [illegible] and J. [illegible] Betts. Betts won in the first round. The next [illegible] pounders were [illegible] Hess and M. [illegible] This contest was well [illegible] Hess [illegible]

MIDDLESEX LEAGUE MAY ELECT ANOTHER SCHOOL

A meeting of the faculty athletic directors of the schools in the Middlesex School Interscholastic Baseball League will be [illegible] soon, to make plans for the 1922 season.

Several of the schools are in favor of admitting another school to make the league circuit a five team affair, and action on this matter will be taken at the meeting when a schedule will also be adopted.

The present circuit membership includes Belmont, Lexington, Reading and Stoneham. The Howe High School at Billerica and the Concord High School have been suggested for the new member.

However it is understood that Concord will probably not join the league.

WANDERERS AND INDIANS PLAY FOR QUINCY TITLE

The Quincy Wanderers and the Quincy Indians will meet on the Merrymount Oval, Thanksgiving afternoon, to decide which eleven may claim the amateur football championship of Quincy for the season of 1921.

The Quincy football fans who have been following the two teams this season look for a rugged contest, as both teams have a perfect record for the season.

It is expected that a large crowd from in and around Quincy will be on hand to witness the title contest.

PANTHERS HAVE CHANCE TO RUIN PENN STATE'S GREAT RECORD

New York, Nov. 23.—Tomorrow's football menu was almost as palatable as turkey and cranberry sauce. More than a score of big elevens swing into action against teams worthy of their mettle in various sections of the country, and while the season will not really come to a close until Saturday, when Army and Navy officially ring down the curtain at the Polo Grounds in their ever colorful climax, most colleges closed their seasons with the playing of tomorrow's games.

[illegible] is staged in Pittsburgh, when Pitt and Penn State, rivals of long standing, clash at Forbes Field.

[illegible] Bezdek's Nittany Lions, with the strongest [illegible] team to [illegible] eastern football championship [illegible] to keep their state clean by [illegible] Pop Warner's scrappy Panthers.

The Penn Staters, having played one of the hardest schedules in the country this season, have been primed for this contest and were favored to win [illegible] of the critics [illegible] Glen Killinger and his [illegible] would dispose of Pitt [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] is over [illegible] then Penn State will wind up its season without the blight of a defeat against it.

While the Lions and the Panthers are snarling and growling in Pittsburgh Gilmour Dobie's undefeated Cornell eleven is battling Pennsylvania on Franklin Field. Cornell is a strong favorite to win by a decisive score.

Other Eastern games of interest bring West Virginia and the strong Washington & Jefferson eleven together at Morgantown, Centre and Georgetown [illegible] at Georgetown, Johns Hopkins and W. & L. at Baltimore, and Georgetown and Bethany at Washington. Columbia and Colgate provided New Yorkers with [illegible] dressing and gravy.

The West Virginia-W. & J. contest promises to develop into a game worth while. W. & J. [illegible] as one of the [illegible] strongest elevens this year and was favored to win [illegible] to find West Virginia well prepared to fight for every yard of ground gained.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. FORBES

Is the cost of living likely to rise or fall, or to stay around present levels?

No human being can forecast the future with certainty. We can only analyze conditions and trends, and then try to draw deductions.

Doing this, one reaches the conclusion that the period of violent fluctuations, either upward or downward, is over and that hereafter changes will be gradual and moderate. Many basic raw materials are almost certain to recover appreciably from their present unduly low levels. On the other hand, many manufactured goods are likely to decline. So are such important items as rent, coal and transportation charges in certain directions, also, wages will probably be somewhat further readjusted.

On the whole, the tendency is likely to be towards slightly lower living costs, if not immediately, then two or three months from now.

* * *

Price readjustments thus far have been extremely uneven. For example, beef is very much lower than it was in 1913, whereas anthracite coal costs more than twice what it did then, and soft coal almost twice. Coffee is almost 30 per cent. below the 1913 price, but tobacco costs nearly three times what it did before the war.

Read these price comparisons prepared by the Harvard University Committee on Economic Research: Taking the 1193 average as 100, the price of wheat last month (October) was 128, corn 87, beef 70, leather 102, pig iron 128, Bessemer steel billets 112, Bessemer steel rails 161, electrolytic copper 79, lead 107, tin 60, zinc 88, middling upland cotton 164, cotton finished goods 214, silk 166, wool 188, anthracite coal 207, bituminous coal 190, petroleum 102, brick 229, window glass 238, coffee 73, print paper 211, sugar 124, alcohol 187, and tobacco 289.

Prices as a whole average between one-third and one-half higher than before the war.

* * *

My guess is that next year the cost of living will get down to from one-quarter to one-third above the pre-war basis.

During October, the bureau of labor statistics reports, wholesale prices declined a little over 1 per cent. Retail food prices moved down not quite one-third of 1 per cent last month. We are still in the season when enormous quantities of farm products are thrown on the market, thus tending to depress quotations. By New Year, however, this pressure will greatly relax. Consequently, grain prices may develop firmness thereafter.

To the ordinary housewife it does not seem as if she has been able to reap anything like the full benefit of the low prices which the newspapers talk about for cattle, hogs, wheat, etc., for she finds that her butcher still charges what strikes her as being pretty high prices and that bread hasn't tumbled very far.

* * *

Talk with workers who are hard-pressed to make ends meet, and you find that, as a rule, they are most concerned as to when rents will come down. Usually they refer next to the terribly high cost of coal. There is still more or less grumbling about food prices, especially among those who read about how prices have dropped at wholesale. Far less complaint is now heard about the cost of clothing and shoes. Commuters and those who do any traveling are intensely dissatisfied with the continued high transportation rate.

* * *

The outlook is that rents have touched their peak and that they will tend downward, though, in all likelihood, painfully slowly. Hard times have lessened the demand for housing accommodation; money for building purposes is becoming a little more plentiful at less extortionate rates; and building costs are declining. In time, this means lower rents.

Coal producers blame two things for the dearness of coal, namely the continuance of war-time wages for miners, and high freight rates. Well, the wage agreement with coal miners runs out at the end of March and lower coal prices are promised after that. Every indication is that railway freight rates will also be lowered in coming months.

* * *

If the government could only apply the knife vigorously to taxes, the whole cost of living could be and doubtless would be reduced. Additional profits are tagged on by business men in order to enable them to meet the inordinate tax burdens placed upon them. Here also, relief will come, but, unfortunately, not nearly as promptly or to such extent as had been hoped.

* * *

Viewing the outlook as a whole, it can be said that we in this country are moving towards more stable price levels and towards more favorable times. The improvement, however, is little likely to break any speed laws.

DOMESTIC OILS ON A LOWER LEVEL

Foreign Petroleums Advance; Rails Higher; Steels Dull; Trading of Less Volume

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Irregularity marked the price movement on the New York exchange during the morning and the list was irregular at noon. Fluctuations were narrow as a rule. Trading was of less value than before this week, transactions for the morning aggregating less than 200,000 shares. Tobaccos rallied in the second hour, Sumatra common advancing 1¾, and the preferred issue gaining 3. Retail was up a fraction at the end of the forenoon.

Rails reached a little higher level. Steels remained dull. The market was featureless. Call money opened at 5 per cent. Foreign exchange was steady, demand sterling starting with a small gain at $3.99.

HAD QUIET OPENING

The market had a quiet and irregular start, with price alterations ruling small, but being gains in most instances. The trend was upward and by the end of an hour the tone was fairly strong. Oils were the most active issues and had a diversified movement. Steels and rails were quiet and the latter improved more than the former. Coppers reacted a little on a few transactions, although one of the largest selling agencies is asking 12¾ cents a pound for metal for January delivery. Sugars attained a higher level on a few transactions. Studebaker, the only active stock, advanced. Tires were steady and there was not enough trading in equipments to determine their tendency. Tobaccos receded, Retail Stores showing the largest loss. It recovered. Among other weak issues were Sears Roebuck, United Drug and International Harvester. Highs for the year were made by Columbia Gas, People's Gas and Davison Chemical. Other strong stocks were Mexican Petroleum, Marine preferred, Northern Pacific, Tobacco Products and General Electrics.

WAITING ON BUSINESS.

Sentiment is more cheerful in financial districts, but there is not much hope of decided improvement in business for some time. There is confidence that the worst phase of post-war readjustments has been passed and that whatever change is ahead will be for the better. Comment as to the outlook is couched in very conservative terms. The relief which business expected from Congress in the way of tariff and taxation legislation has not been given. Much disappointment is felt over the failure to enact the railroad funding bill. A reduction of operating expenses has enabled carriers to make a better showing as regards earnings, but gains have been made to some extent by curtailment of maintenance costs which will entail larger expenditures later. In banking quarters, it is said, however, that there is more confidence in the railroad future, although it has been found easier to enforce rate cutting than to reduce wages. While money rates have declined, neither transportation nor industrial corporations have been operating at much profit. But cheap money will help get all kinds of business on a profitable basis.

Rail Transportation Ratios

As regards railroad transportation ratios, it is stated that out of fifty-one systems tabulated, twelve show maintenance in excess of 40 per cent. for nine months in 1921, and eight in excess of 40 per cent. for September.

Refined Oil Production

In September production of refined oil products in this country averaged 13,897,100 gallons a day, a decrease of 1,232,270 gallons as compared with the like 1920 month.

RAILROADS ARE PRAISED FOR EFFICIENCY

Man Back From 8,000-Mile Trip Tells Spillane His Troubles Were Trifling

By RICHARD SPILLANE.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—A man who has been a severe critic of the American railroads is just back from a rather hurried 8,000-mile trip, in which he visited about forty cities, and journeyed from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from British Columbia and Manitoba to Southern Texas.

He had no troubles, practically no necessary to adhere, if possible. Any delay or interruption would have been more than troublesome. Knowing the strain to which the railroads had been subjected in the war period, well informed as to how they had been forced to economize to the limit in men and material, owing to their weak financial state, and believing the morale of the railroad workers, from locomotive engineers down to track men and shop men, had been impaired seriously, the traveler expected to have his full complement of troubles.

HAD NO TROUBLES.

We had no troubles, practically no delays. Here is what he says:

"In all the 8,000 mile trip, regardless of whether the road was Class A or B or C, the trains arrived on time in every instance, but two. Once—that was on the run from Toledo to Chicago—we were thirty minutes late. At another time, out in the Northwest, we arrived nine minutes late.

"Never did we know discomfort. The trainmen were helpful, kindly and courteous. And this was in the period when it seemed as if the whole nation was to be tied up by a railroad strike.

"The railroads of America may be in a weakened state physically. They may be in desperate straits financially. But nobody can make me believe that the railroad workers, from executives down to the tie tamper and the engine wiper, are not on the job just as faithfully and conscientiously as ever in our transportation history.

"Where on earth can a man travel 8,000 miles and practically be on time from start to finish as I was except in America? I think it is only fair to pay this tribute to the American railroad and the American railroad man."

HOW PESSIMISTS TALK.

Some men seem to resent any suggestion or evidence of improvement in business. There are not many of them—one in fifty or one in 100 among those you meet—but they are highly vocal and emphatic.

"Bah" they exclaim. "This is all bunk you hear. Business is rotten and getting worse, if it's possible to get worse. I know. You bet I know. Haven't made a dollar in two years, and if I could find anybody crazy enough to take my business over for anything like money I'd sell out in a minute, you bet."

These men are honest in their views, yet all wrong in their statements. Inquiry as to a few of them showed they had been very successful in the war period and accumulated a lot of money, but had not been particularly prominent before that time.

What's the answer? Simply this! They were not and are not sound business men. They made money, lots of it, at a time when anybody with anything to sell could sell it profitably.

CREATURES OF CIRCUMSTANCE.

Because they made money fast they got a notion that they were wonderful manufacturers or merchants. They didn't appreciate and do not appreciate now that they simply were order takers, creatures of circumstances and their success was not due to their ability but in spite of their small ability. When the turn came they could not see it or prepare for it. In fact, they were so self-satisfied they scoffed at the idea of depression. They looked upon those who preached caution as enemies to progress, persons who ought to be silenced.

But suddenly, almost over night, the bottom dropped out of everything. Industry halted. The machinery of the nation stopped. Bankers refused to lend money. Nobody wanted to buy.

The inefficient man of business has been dazed ever since. He has not the knowledge or the ability to meet the situation, as he did not have the knowledge or ability to prepare his affairs for what was coming.

He is about as would be an amateur in charge of a sailing ship who disregarded storm signals and was carrying full sail when the storm struck his craft, and who, after his vessel was stripped of every stitch of canvas, blamed everybody but himself and couldn't see how cargoes ever could or would be carried overseas again.

And he also is like the worker who got $3 a day before the war and $10 or $15 a day in the war period, and blames everybody but himself because he cannot get the same high wages today.

Cattle and Hogs Lower

The average price of good beef cattle declined to $7.10 in Chicago last week, while hogs dropped to $6.75, the lowest figure for both in six years. Cattle receipts for the week were 70,500, while hog receipts aggregated 194,600.

Railroad Items

For the first nine months of 1921 the Kansas City Southern reports net after taxes of $4,215,639, compared with $2,[illegible] in the corresponding months of 1920, a gain of almost 50 per cent.

On November 1 stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad totaled [illegible], a decrease of 400 from preceding month. The record number of stockholders was [illegible] July 1, and since then there has been a decrease of 1,730.

Southern Railway gross increased $750,981 in the second week of November.

During the November [illegible] week the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad handled 26,350 cars on its lines compared with 29,440 for the corresponding week a year ago.

For the second week of the month the Mobile & Ohio reports that gross decreased $39,320.

The Baltimore & Ohio reports for 1920 net corporate income after charges, taxes and [illegible] other items of $7,245,480, equivalent after preferred dividends to $3.21 a share on $151,945,549 outstanding common, against $5,580,022, or $1.09 a share, in preceding year.

Minneapolis & St. Louis gross decreased $16,926 in the second November week.

WALL ST. GOSSIP

By MONITOR

NEW York, Nov. 23.—Trading conditions in Tuesday's stock market were decidedly mixed, and the result was a confused array of special strength and isolated weak spots. Pools made bullish demonstrations in a few specialties, while the personal hand was apparent in other quarters where declines were registered. The general tendency was rather plainly toward heaviness. Sharp declines took place in Crucible, Sears Roebuck, Baldwin, Mexican Petroleum and United Retail Stores, but the last-named three of these issues came back rather strongly and cancelled most, or all, of the early losses.

DURING part of the session the rails were steady. Union Pacific reached its former high level of 124¾, and Missouri Pacific preferred made a new high level. There has been some talk of putting this stock on a dividend basis, but most of the buying has been based chiefly on the improved showing the road has been making in respect to earnings. In the oils the recent liquidation appears to have practically run its course, although bullish operations have not yet been resumed. Among the low priced shares Invincible was a feature. The strong spots among the specialties were represented by Davison Chemical and Gulf States Steel.

IN view of the reported probability that the new revenue bill would become a law today, it was expected that Tuesday's market would bring considerable selling for the purpose of establishing losses. So far as could be observed, however, there was no indication of heavy transactions of this character.

SENTIMENT grows more confused each day. Firms whose opinions carry weight express divergent views. There is an agreement that the long trend of the market is upward. Differences of opinion are confined to the immediate future. In some quarters it is held that there is considerable distribution of an important character in progress in anticipation of a sharp reaction which usually occurs between November 15 and January 1. The other view is that the narrow range is maintained for the purpose of tiring holders of stock, thus encouraging their sale. If this latter view is correct, no serious reaction is anticipated. The bulk of the opinions inclined, however, to theory of reaction.

PEOPLES Gas of Chicago has been strong in recent markets and again was a feature. Buyers of the stock suggested that there were intimations from sources identified with the company that before the end of the year the former dividend of $6 annually may be declared. Earnings for the year ending September 30 were equal to $9.87 per share.

UNITED Retail Stores has been well sold for some weeks past. The directors meet to act on the dividend in about three weeks and traders expect that the present $6 rate will be reduced. From sources close to the Whelan interest, it is declared that the present dividend will be maintained. A large part of Retail Stores' income is derived from its holdings of United Cigar Stores whose earnings have not been satisfactory in recent months.

THERE is a persistent report that the Tobacco Products Corporation may issue some short term obligations and retire about $1,600,000 of dividend scrip. This scrip consists of $1,110,000, bearing 8 per cent. interest, and $564,000 paying 7 per cent. If the corporation could obtain funds on short term for less than 7 per cent. a saving would be effected. A director said that bank loans are less than $2,000,000 while the corporation has open credits of double that amount which have not been used. This official said that earnings before taxes for ten months were more than $200,000 in excess of the full year's 7 per cent. dividend on the preferred stock and the $6 per share on the 188,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

TRADING in the new Missouri, Kansas and Texas issue was inaugurated on the curb. After some minor fluctuations the prices finally settled at about the following levels: Ten year 6's 93 to yield about 7.50 per cent; 40 year 5's at 74 to yield about 7 per cent; 40 year 4's at 62 to yield about 6.75 per cent; adjustment 5's at 42 yield about 12 per cent.; the 7 per cent. preferred stock at 24 and the common stock of no par value at 10½. Trading was animated in all the issues throughout the session.

THE action of the directors of the New York Dock Corporation in declaring the regular semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent. on the preferred stock and the same amount on the common was expected in well-informed quarters. While the era of high pier rents has passed the company has its many warehouses filled with merchandise which has not been withdrawn by the consignees and on which it is obtaining high rentals.

IT has been current gossip that there is not an active stock on the board in which a pool has not been organized. A recently organized group, in which it is understood considerable Southern capital is interested, has been buying Gulf States Steel, which, on top of its five-point advance Monday, advanced five points more Tuesday morning. Profit-taking brought a sharp reaction in the late trading, but the offerings were taken by the pool.

FARMERS WON, THEN LOST, BILLIONS

Evans Analyzes Some Conditions Attending Business Liquidation in West

By C. B. EVANS.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—When the book is opened a little crack and one sees a portion of what we have gone through in a financial way in the past year or so, he has a pronounced shiver, which is followed by the joy of believing that the critical time has gone by.

The worst that has been said regarding the state of affairs throughout the West was not an exaggeration but an under-statement. The men on the inside, while saying enough to warn people of the possible wrath to come, kept the facts well below their organs of speech, however much those facts may have agitated their nerve tissue.

Farther West they now have something of the same sort, though they are kept in fair shape by help from this city and other large centres.

FARMERS WON AND LOST.

An authority in this city who knows the farm country of the West, says that the farmers were getting for five years a billion dollars a year in excess of the normal, and they have none of the money left. As to fraudulent schemes, such as fake oil companies, one is tempted to estimate the losses in the billions, but there is no way of measuring the amount.

These statements apply to the whole country west of Chicago, and include much of the South, but as this city is a nearer neighbor to Iowa than to other Western States in a financial way, we know what has been going on in that rich Commonwealth better than elsewhere.

At one time the Iowa banks had more money borrowed at the Federal Reserve Bank than the entire State of Illinois outside of Chicago. The richer a community the more danger there is of a crazy investment of money and excessive expenditures. New York is a good illustration of that principle, with its recent disappearance of billions of dream wealth. Wall street is not different from Podunk.

IN SOUNDER CONDITION.

But that turn came some weeks ago, or months, for one cannot name just the instant when fever slackens a little, and we are on the road back to better things. Indeed, in many instances corporations having their banking centre in Chicago, are in sounder condition than they were immediately before the war.

A score of large concerns could be named which had been on the books of the banks as borrowers ever since 1914, but have now entirely paid off, and doubtless there are many more in the same category.

The liquidation has been skillfully, patiently, tolerantly handled. It was quite in the cards that the frozen credit would get a multitude of people into hot water, but they have been treated with the warm milk cure, with time and with the steady nerve of the bankers. And Western emergencies have been met by Western banks.

Formerly when there was trouble here New York was called upon for amounts of money, the first thing for ing the withdrawal of deposit balances of our banks in New York banks, and then loans, but this time there has been enough capital and ability here to take care of the Western situation.

PACKERS HAVE LIQUIDATED.

The packing interest has liquidated rather more completely than any other line of industry. It would not be correct to say that these concerns have no loans at the banks, but certainly the amount of that class of credit is negligible so far as concerns its effects on the general financial situation in Chicago.

This is notable in view of the fact that the packers have been historically among the biggest users of credit.

It was a leading principle with the late P. D. Armour to make use of bank credits to the fullest extent. Visitors to his office in the olden days will remember that spindle on his desk where he kept his data of loans at the banks. Those sheets made a tent with a steel centerpole sticking through the top of it, a sort of monument to his way of doing a successful business.

The recent statement by the National Leather Company, a Swift concern, showed an extraordinary liquidation. The names of the underwriters of the $13,000,000 preferred stock have not been given out, but it appears from inquiries that have just been made that there is little Chicago money in the pool.

The lumber interest is another one conspicuous in paying off liabilities at the banks. The new conditions indicated extend out to many classes of business and are a good basis for a prosperous trade.

The Next Boom in the Oil Industry

At the present time, there are clear indications pointing to approximately when the next oil boom may be expected, and inasmuch as this subject is of vital importance to every holder of oil shares, as well as to those contemplating the purchase of stocks in this group, we have prepared a forecast of what may be anticipated.

COPPERS

Merger Rumors, Advancing Quotations and Possibilities.

Conviction is growing in Wall Street that at least three mammoth copper mergers are under consideration. Last summer, copper sold at 11½c per pound as against present quotations of 13½c.

Copper interests state that consumption of copper is now at the rate of 125,000,000 pounds monthly, of which 75,000,000 pounds are being withdrawn from surplus now placed at between 500,000,000 and 600,000,000 pounds.

Copper is a commodity which cannot spoil either in storage above ground, or in its native state under ground. Those, therefore, who purchase good copper stocks now and will exercise sufficient patience to await three developments, which must come, namely, the depletion of the present copper surplus, the reopening of the mines and the resumption of dividend payments, should be able to secure substantial profits on all purchases at current prices.

Our Special Service Bulletin just issued, gives an exhaustive study of copper and the leading market favorites.

Local Market Has a Mixed Morning Movement; More Active on Curb

The Boston market was irregular all the forenoon, but had a better tone at the start than later. Trading was comparatively active and of usual breadth. Coppers did not respond to the advancing price for red metal. Boston Elevated sold at a new 1921 high and Libby at a new low. American Telephone was fractionally lower at noon, after opening with a small gain. New Haven receded a little, but Boston and Maine issues displayed strength. Carson Hill was a leader and made a small gain. Boston and Maine B and General Electric advanced 2½. Boston and Maine common 1½ and Boston & Maine D 1. Point gains were made by Warren Brothers common and Swift preferred. Loew's Theatres moved up two points. Eastern Steamship preferred dropped a point and Agricultural Chemical 1¼.

Small gains were made by Copper Range, Old Dominion, North Butte, United Fruit, Carson Hill, International Cement, Swift & Co. and New England Oil. Issues to recede fractionally were Calumet & Arizona, East Butte, United Shoe, United Fruit, Ventura, Nipissing, Atlantic Gulf, Bingham, Libby, Swift International and Mexican Investment.

CURB FAIRLY ACTIVE.

Trading on the Curb was fairly active and the price movement irregular. Southern States Consolidated was a feature. It opened at 21 cents, a loss of 7 cents, climbed to $1.37½ and then sold at 89 cents. Other gains at noon were Mutual 1 cent at 42 cents, Homa 1 cent at 8 cents, First National 5 cents at 75 cents and United Verde Extension ¼ at 27½. Among losses were Eureka 1 cent at 33 cents, Ranier 1 cent at 6 cents and Majestic 1 cent at 7 cents. Boston & Montana lost an opening gain.

8,000 CIGAR MAKERS QUIT AT BOR CITY, FLA.

Bor City, Fla., Nov. 23.—Eight thousand cigar makers employed in factories here today walked out on strike, demanding resumption of the old wage scale. This follows similar action by 10,000 men employed at West Tampa. One of the union leaders was kidnaped last night and has not been found.

Cotton Crop Larger

It is now believed that this country's cotton crop will exceed the government estimate of 6,537,000 bales made early in October by about 1,500,000 bales. The latest estimate calls for a crop approximating 8,000,000 bales. Up to November 14, 7,270,575 bales had been ginned. The carry-over on July 1 last was 6,640,000 bales, and this, with the present crop, would provide about 14,640,000 bales, aside from imports of around 173,000. Consumption of cotton in this country this year should approximate 12,800,084 bales and leave a carry-over for 1922 of about 1,843,950.

No Cheap Copper Left

It was stated yesterday that no copper could be obtained in quantity for 13⅝ cents a pound and that it was difficult to buy for this and next month delivery at 13½. Some dealers are asking 13⅝ cents for December and 13⅝ for January deliveries. It is expected that November sales will exceed the October total, which is estimated at 140,000,000 pounds.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Nov. 23.—Influenced by strong cables, the cotton market opened 9 to 21 points higher today, and after the start the list continued its upward swing until by 10:15 o'clock it was fully 30 points higher. New Orleans, Wall Street, Japanese interests and trade and wire houses were buyers. Some Southern concerns sold. An estimate by the Southern Products Company for a crop of 7,021,080 bales was considered bullish. Opening prices were: Dec. 18.15, Jan. 18.02, Feb. 17.95, March 17.97, May 17.70, July 17.30, August 17.00, Oct. 16.35.

"Kill the Anglo-Japanese Alliance," Says Lord Northcliffe

"The Anglo-Japanese alliance is the sharpest sword in the hands of the war party in Japan. Under the cover of this alliance the war party of Japan spends more than half the people's income on the navy, army and fortifications.

"Japan's past arrogant attitude toward the United States would not have been possible without this alliance.

"The Chinese, who detest this alliance as much as Americans do, and the British in the Orient blame Great Britain for their suffering at the hands of Japan.

"One bad result of the alliance is the attitude of the war party toward Japan's desire for real democratic government.

"Owing to the strength of the war party, the right of the people to hold public meetings and the freedom of the press is at the mercy of police and censors controlled by the war party.

"Many Japanese told me they hated the imitation German militarism of the war party, but were powerless.

"The so-called Diet is a farce. It has no more power than the old German Reichstag.

"Japan is ruled absolutely by four elder statesmen.

"Kill the Anglo-Japanese alliance and you will rob them of half their power, though they will want watching this year, next year and many years to come."

Exclusive statement by Lord Northcliffe, given at Shanghai, November 21, to the International News Service.

No Partnership in Crime for Your Uncle Samuel

Lord Northcliffe, whose words above you should read and ponder, is a great editor, trained to see and weigh facts. His position gives him inside knowledge and he has unsurpassed facilities for ascertaining the truth. His ability and courage are well known. He is by far the most influential editor or publisher in England. Hence when he, a Briton, head of the greatest publicity organization in the British Empire, denounces the Anglo-Japanese alliance as a fomenter of Japanese arrogance to the United States, of Japanese depredations upon China, as a clamp upon the development of democracy in Japan itself, and thus a world menace, the world must listen.

Every word that he says is true.

Japan is a militarist empire ruled ruthlessly by four old men, chiefly by one man, Prince Yamagata, who is eighty-seven, and an autocrat of the blood-and-iron school.

It uses exquisite politeness of diplomacy and is an adept in the fine rhetoric that helps to mask merciless aggression upon weaker neighbors and unscrupulous intrigue against distant competitors.

It has copied the vices of European secret dealing, militarism and imperialism, and has no conception of the virtues we Americans see in democracy.

Until its control by these sinister forces is upset and a new spirit of liberalism is developed into power among its people, Japan will remain an international danger.

Yet it was with such an empire that the British Empire has entered into an offensive and defensive alliance, military and naval.

Britain made use of the compact to hold restive India in fetters and to push projects of exploitation in Southern China, thereby directly disaffecting a third of the human race.

Japan made use of it to enslave Korea; win control of Manchuria and much of Mongolia; thrust armed forces into Eastern Siberia; throttle Shantung, the heart of Confucian China; spring the iniquitous "21" demands upon the palsied government of China and gain mastery of strategic islands throughout the North Pacific for use as centres of intrigue and possible direct attack upon peaceful American commerce.

Americans familiar with conditions in the East have long felt outraged at this vicious alliance and its evil fruit.

They have largely refrained from giving adequate voice to their feelings because, while they deplored the policy of the alliance, they conceded the political right of Great Britain and Japan to make it, to renew it or to end it as they pleased.

But Lord Northcliffe, a Briton, is under no such restraint. He can fittingly brand it as he does for what it is—a conspiracy of two robber systems against weak peoples throughout Asia and a menace to the security of the United States and to the peace of the world.

There is reason to believe that the astute diplomatists of Great Britain now in this country are dangling before our statesmen the possibility of admitting the United States as a third member of the conspiracy if we can be induced to accept its "accomplished facts" and its future purposes.

There are no words to measure the scorn such an overture deserves.

In a partnership between two imperial empires, one dominating the Atlantic and the other aspiring to control the Pacific, we should always need to keep watch upon our treasures, for we could never know when both might combine against us.

Three hundred years of history warn us that Britain's unvarying policy is to make combinations against any nation offering greatest commercial rivalry to her, to ring it around with enemies and to bring it low.

The United States does not have to entangle itself in any foreign alliance to insure the safety of its Pacific commerce or to make valid repeated assurances of an open door.

It possesses the power and it should have the courage and foresight to maintain its interests alone.

The Truth Is Winning for Ireland

And It Will Win for Mr. Murphy

Mr. Pelletier announces once more that the rumors with which Mr. Curley's lieutenants are filling the air that Mr. Pelletier is about to withdraw and that he has canceled his printing are false. Once more, Mr. Pelletier appeals to his friends to pay no attention to these rumors.

Mr. Curley is also telling his friends that the stories emanating from the Pelletier headquarters that he is going to withdraw are false, and that no consideration could induce him to withdraw.

We hope that we shall soon see an end in this campaign of manufactured rumors, and the beginning of straight fighting. As soon as Mr. Murphy knows who his opponents are going to be, he will take them both on, for he is a two-fisted fighter.

What we want in this campaign is the beginning of truth telling, discussion of facts, and not rumors and false charges and appeals to race and religious bigotry. It is the truth which is winning for Ireland, under the leadership of great men who know the value of truth and who deal with it only. If Mr. Murphy deals with the truth as conscientiously as he has dealt with it so far, and lets his opponents continue to put out false rumors and appeal to false issues, he cannot help winning, for the people of Boston are intelligent and virtuous and like the truth, and know it when they see it, notwithstanding the contrary belief of certain of our candidates.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE

Branly's Views on Spiritualism

By Garrett P. Serviss

PROFESSOR BRANLY, the inventor of the original "coherer" which rendered wireless telegraphy possibly, was lately asked in Paris for his opinion of the alleged survival of the dead in the form of spirits who are capable of communicating with the living. He replied, in effect, that he had no objection to believing in such a thing provided that its truth was proved, but so far he had seen no proof.

This was not because he had not looked into the subject, for he had attended many seances, and had had all kinds of "spiritist" and other strange phenomena presented to his attention, including alleged photographs, but in no case had the necessary proofs been furnished. Referring to the well-known experiments of the "Institut Metaphysique," which are independent of the spiritist theory, he said they lacked scientific method.

"Take note that I do not deny the possibility of these phenomena. It would be very interesting if they were real. I have always been willing to believe if I could. But, I demand proofs, and the experimenters have never been able to furnish them when there was a truly scientific control."

Key Lies in Control

The key to the subject, according to Professor Branly, is to be found in this matter of "control," by which is meant a scientific supervision enabling every phase and detail of a phenomena to be openly and clearly watched and studied. The position that he thus takes is unassailable. As long as there is concealment, shuffling, and appeals to blind credulity, on the part of those who give such exhibitions of supranormal phenomena, there can be no genuine investigation of them.

That which invalidates the testimony of persons who believe themselves to have been witnesses of supernatural wonders is that they cannot offer veritable facts for examination, but only their belief that the supposed facts are so. If those facts were of an ordinary nature, such as anybody might encounter any day, then testimony of this kind might be acceptable; but it is very different when the question is as to the reality of the facts themselves, for that can only be established by the strictest criticism of the methods of observation employed by the witness.

If a man says he saw a white horse in a field, we do not need to consider, in weighing his testimony, the possibility of illusion, for white horses are real objects occasionally seen by everybody. But if the same man says he saw a ghost in a room, the possibility of illusion is the very first thing that we have to dispose of, for ghosts are not real objects seen by everybody.

Here is where scientific control comes in. That control should be exercised by the observer himself, if his testimony is to possess any value whatever. People are continually going astray in their observation of the commonest of real phenomena; how extremely likely, then, that they should go astray in the observation of suspected phenomena which, according to general human experience, or to scientific laws have no existence.

Two Honest Men Deceived

A case very much in point has lately come to my attention. Some one wrote me that he had seen a star between the "horns" of the new moon. He sent me a drawing of the alleged appearance, and in the drawing the star was placed far within the line connecting the points of the crescent moon, and in a position which it could not possibly occupy without shining directly through the centre of the moon's globe.

I wrote an explanation of the phenomenon, pointing out the true geometrical relations of the objects concerned, and lo! in reply to that comes a letter from another person, affirming, with absoluteness, that he has seen a star inside the crescent figure of the moon, and supporting the statement with a drawing similar to the one received before.

Now, there can be no question of the entire sincerity of these persons in their statements as to what they believe they have seen. They may even resent the suggestion of illusion. Yet it is as certain as the succession of sunrise and sunset that both of them were deceived, and that the very cause which Professor Branly has cited as responsible for the illusions of the "spiritists" and other seers of mysterious phenomena, viz., lack of "control," i. e., of close and continual critical observation, including, in such a case, strict criticism of the reports of one's own senses.

Until you have begun to exercise such control over your own everyday observations of the commonest phenomena you cannot be aware of the pitfalls of illusion and delusion that are all about you, and into which you, and all of us, frequently fall. "Test all things; hold fast that which is good."

A HUSBAND SHOULD NOT GIVE ALL TO WIFE

By Winifred Black.

Copyright 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

JUDGE MORGAN, of San Francisco, says that any man who will not keep part of his pay check for his own use is a "chump."

Especially if the husband has made up his mind that his wife is simply using him as a meal ticket.

I don't know exactly what a chump is—it's something like a boob, isn't it?

And what relation is a chump to a mut, and which is the worst to have in the family?

But to get back to that meal ticket and the pay check. It seems to me Judge Mogan has said something that sounds a good deal like the truth.

No one has any use for the man who spends most of his salary on himself, and doles out the very least he can possibly manage to dole to the woman he promised to love, cherish and protect as long as they both should live.

A man who's stingy and grudging with his own family isn't much of an asset to any community, and no one cares very much what happens to him.

What Mary Should Do

But the man who turns over every penny he makes to his wife and then lets her grumble and complain that he doesn't make enough—he isn't a martyr or a saint.

He's just a plain fool—capital F, double O, L—and that's all there is to it.

Any man who will allow a woman to use him as a work horse to drag her little wagon, and then let her sit up on the seat and flourish a whip while he's doing it, isn't a man at all.

He's a goose and a gump and a gudgeon, and a number of other things that aren't pleasant either to see or be.

I know a woman who's always complaining because her husband won't buy her this and doesn't give her that, and the poor man is nearly a nervous wreck now working overtime, trying to get money enough to satisfy the demands of the bloodsucker he calls his wife.

If that man would just put his foot down once, good and hard—not in anger, nor in a quarrel, not in violence, but calmly and firmly—he'd be master of the situation.

The wife is too lazy to work, and too unattractive to marry again. She knows she has found a good thing, and she's determined to make the most of it.

Now, if her husband would just go home some night, and lock the front door and keep out the neighbors for half an hour, and say:

'Mary, I've changed my mind about you and me. I'm working hard to take care of you—I'm doing it because you're my wife and because I love you. But I'm not going to go on loving you unless you turn over a new leaf. I'm going to give you enough money to live comfortably on—I'll give you something for your own spending money, and the rest I'm going to keep myself. I earn it and it's mine. If you don't think what I give you is enough, you can step out and earn some more yourself.

"Furthermore, you will have to do your share in this business of economizing. Also, I want the house that I provide for kept in decent shape, and expect some sort of human companionship when I get home from my work. You made a big mistake with me, Mary—maybe it's been my own fault, too—but you're going to change it from this hour, and so am I."

And I believe that Mary would 'come to" very fast.

What Will John Do?

What John will probably do will be nohting of the sort.

He'll endure and endure until he can bear it no longer—and some day he'll meet some coaxing little thing who'll tell him what a fool he is, and out will step John—never to return.

And very likely he'll be worse off the second time than he was the first, for the sort of woman who will coax a man away from his wife, no matter what she is, is not apt to be very much better than the wife, after all.

Yes, Judge Mogan is right—provided I know what he means or can even guess what a "chump" is.

A Message of Peace

By JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY

THERE once was a pirate, greedy and bold,
Who ravaged for gain, and saved the spoils
Till his coffers were bursting with blood-stained gold.
And millions of captives bore his toils.

Then fear took hold of him, and he cried:
"I have gathered enough; now war should cease!"
And he sent out messengers far and wide
(The strong ones only) to ask for peace.

"We are Christian brethren!" thus he spake;
"Let us seal a contract—never to fight!
Except against rebels who dare to break
The bonds we have made by the victor's right."

And the strong ones listen; and some applaud
The kindly offer and righteous word;
With never a dream of deceit or fraud,
They would spike the cannon and break the sword.

But others, their elders, listen and smile
At the sudden convert's unctuous style,
They watch for the peacemakers' change of way;
But his war forges roar by night and day.
Even now, while his godly messengers speak,
His guns are aflame on his enemies weak.
He has stolen the blade from the hand of his foe,
And he strikes the unarmed a merciless blow.
To the ends of the earth his oppression runs;
The rebels are blown from the mouths of his guns
His war tax devours his subjects' food;
He taxes their evil and he taxes their good;
He taxes their salt till he rots their blood.
He leaps on the friendless as on a prey,
And slinks, tail down, from the strong one's way.
The Pharisee's cant goes up for peace;
But the cries of his victims never cease;
The stifled voices of brave men rise
From a thousand cells, while his rascal spies
Are spending their blood money free.

And this the Christian to oversee
A world of evil! a saint to preach!
A holy welldoer come to teach!
A prophet to tell us war should cease!
A pious example of Christian peace!

MAKING FRIENDLY ENEMIES.

It may be that your desire to be popular is what stands in the way of your further advancement in the business firm with which you are affiliated.

There are too many men who dare not express an opinion or do an original thing for fear it my be misconstrued.

They desire the good will of every one in their deprtment and they want their associates to approve, and so they go through life in a perfectly colorless way so they will not antagonize others.

Now, a successful director or executive, while he may be kind and just to his men, in order to be fair to the firm must insist that each person employed do as the firm wishes at all times.

This insistence on the carrying out of the head's wishes may result in hard feelings, for the one who comes in for a reprimand does not always see the justice of censure

But the man who has reached the upper rounds of the ladder has done it by being fearless in the interests of the company for which he labors, not by courting popularity with the employes.

If you would rise to the top with your employers and be a good leader you must have the courage of your convictions.

WE MAY SAVE RUSSIA AND RUSSIA THE WORLD

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

WE have sent to Russia an "Ambassador of Mercy," sure to be more serviceable to both Russia and the United States than any merely diplomatic representative could be!

It is in itself a highly dramatic incident that Colonel William Haskell of our regular army, and, therefore, well trained for killing, should have been sent to Russia for so beneficently peaceable a purpose as the saving of millions from starvation!

Incidentally, this indicates a train of constructive uses, for which such small defensive armies as will survive disarmament may always be employed.

It is to be hoped that Colonel Haskell and his efficient staff will not only be magnificently successful in their merciful task of life-saving, but that they will serve as a dynamic symbol of the essentially sympathetic attitude of America toward the great Russian people.

Probably, this actively friendly relationship is only a prelude to definite co-operation between the two nations for incalculable service to the whole human race.

True to Birthright

Though America has become an amazingly conservative nation, we are still true to our birthright, and we are glad, therefore, to see other nations follow the shining example of our Fourth of July.

That we were horrified by the butchery of the late Czar and his family does not, at this distance of space and time, prevent our approval of the dethronement of dynasties and the establishment of the rule of the people.

To be sure, we would prefer actual democracy in Russia to the present type of self-selected oligarchy, which it pleases the autocratic rulers to regard as the sort of benevolent despotism needed by the Russians until they are educated for self-government.

Those of us whose faith in democracy amounts to a religious passion would rather see at once in Russia a really representative government, believing, as we do, in the educative power of democracy itself.

As it is, our honest opposition to Sovietism and Bolshevism is economic.

Despite that fact, if the existing Russian regime had not at first repudiated foreign debts, and thus made international commerce impossible, it is a question whether we would not have been able to tolerate even a republic based upon Marxia Socialism.

Their braggart bluster, throwing defiance to all capitalistic government, we would have greeted with a smile, as soon as we had discovered the complete failure of the appeal to world-wide anarchy by a universal proletarian revolution.

All that now is past. There is no danger of this general uprising. The Russians themselves are gradually returning to capitalism and becoming fit for international economic relations.

Therefore, America may safely yield her fear and cease to be victimized by the near-sighted propaganda of a timid plutocracy.

Normal Spirit.

Indeed, to speak more idealistically America should resume her normal spirit of sympathy with constructive revolution and her traditional relationship of friendliness with Russia.

While Czarism, with all its dark implications, dominated that vast empire, the friendship of the two nations was rather an inuncongruous demonstration.

But now, however I may disapprove of her economic experiment and of her internal politics, we ought to be sufficiently far-sighted and wisely generous enough to seek to become Russia's guide, philosopher and friend.

Surely, there is no reason why America's hand should be against Russia, whatever may be the self-seeking policy of Europe.

For Russia's good, involving America's advantage, an open and informal alliance between the United States and Russia and France would also promise more service to the human race than any other possible combination of nations.

The cause of liberty, equality and fraternity—AMERICA FOR LIBERTY, RUSSIA FOR EQUALITY, AND FRANCE FOR FRATERNITY—awaits the announcement of such a militantly pacific association for the welfare and the progress of mankind.
